Life term decision on Morris welcomed

A FORMER police officer who worked on the case of Cannock Chase killer Raymond Morris has welcomed a court ruling that whole life sentences are legal.

Maureen Freeman, who played a key role in the investigation that led to Morris's arrest, said: "Life should mean life."

An Appeal Court ruling means 84-year-old Morris will spend the rest of his life behind bars. He is serving life for the murder of seven-year-old Walsall girl Christine Darby in 1967 and is also the prime suspect in the killings of schoolgirls Margaret Reynolds and Diane Tift, whose bodies were found on Cannock Chase.

In July, the European Court of Human Rights ruled whole life sentences were unlawful because there was no prospect of review. But this week, the Court of Appeal found the system of whole life sentences does allow for a review and ruled judges should continue to use them for the most serious of crimes.

Miss Freeman, who was 23 at the time, welcomed the decision and said she was relieved the courts had ruled life will mean life.

"Life has to mean life," she said. "People go on about the human rights of prisoners but what about the human rights of the victims and their families?"

Appeal after cars damaged

POLICE are appealing for information after three cars were damaged by vandals in Cannock.

The vehicles were scratched along the whole length of the driver's side in Chenet Way sometime between 11 and 11.20 am on Tuesday February 4.

The paintwork was damaged on three cars, a grey Volkswagen Polo, a black and cream Renault and a red Mazda.

Anyone with information is asked to call Pc Kerry Whiston on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

GPs VOTE FOR DOWNGRADE

Report by Rob Gollidge

JUST 45 doctors responded to a ballot over the controversial downgrade of Stafford Hospital. GPs replied in favour, but fewer than a third voted.

The poll was arranged by MPs with ballot papers being sent to around 170 GPs across the Stafford and Cannock areas.

Extended deadline on orders

HEALTH chiefs have asked for an extension to carry out changes following an investigation into a patient's death at Stafford Hospital.

Three improvement notices were served on the hospital trust after a Health and Safety Executive inquiry into the death of Edith Bourne in July.

The 84-year-old had been transferred to Stafford's A&E department from Cannock Chase Hospital, where she was initially being cared for. But she died at Stafford's Acute Medical Unit.

The trust was originally told it must comply with the orders or risk prosecution. Improvement notices were served on November 14 and were originally due to be complied with by February 14. Bosses asked for the deadline to be extended and the new compliance date is now April 14.

Meanwhile, an extraordinary meeting of the Trust Special Administrator (TSA) Board is being held today (Thursday) at 4.30pm in the RAB Thomas Lecture Theatre, Post Graduate Medical Centre, Stafford Hospital.

Overall, 64 per cent of doctors who responded said they supported proposals to permanently reduce opening hours at A&E to 14 hours a day, downgrade the maternity unit and remove the majority of paediatrics and urgent care at the Weston Road site. The plans would also see the Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust dissolved with the University Hospital of North Staffordshire taking over Stafford.

The same number of GPs support the proposals for Cannock Hospital to be taken over by Royal Wolverhampton Trust.

Watchdog

Health secretary Jeremy Hunt is to make a decision by the end of the month on the recommendations from watchdog Monitor.

Support Stafford Hospital campaigner Cheryl Porter expressed disappointment at the number that voted.

She said: "It is appalling - they all should have voted. That is the only way we can have a true idea of what they actually think."

In all, 28 votes were cast from GPs in the Stafford area and 17 from Cannock.

MPs said it was 'vital' that the proposals were backed by GPs. Stafford's Jeremy Lefroy said: "I would like to thank those GPs that responded."

Protest over youth service cuts

Youth worker Tracey Carter, in blue, makes her feelings known as she joins the protesters over county council cuts

BANNER-WAVING campaigners hit the streets to protest against proposed cuts to youth services in Staffordshire that could see clubs close to save millions of pounds.

Members of Youth Against Service Cuts held the rally in Stafford town centre and declared: "This is not ping pong in a church hall. This mentors young people through adolescence towards adulthood."

Around 400 youth workers will lose their jobs if Staffordshire County Council's proposals to stop running youth clubs goes ahead as part of £102 million worth of budget cuts.

Finance boss Ian Parry has defended the decision to approve the cuts, insisting the moves are not just a case of 'simply cutting or closing'.

But campaigners fear crime will rise if youth services are scaled down. Lesley Harrison, library manager at Hednesford, took part in the rally on Saturday.

The 59-year-old, from Huntington Terrace Road, Cannock, warned: "Young people will move away and Staffordshire will become a place for old people."

"The closure of maternity and paediatric services at Stafford Hospital already means that young families are not going to want to live here. The cutting of youth services across the county is another step in that direction."

Farran Glaze, 17, from Tudor Close, Cheslyn Hay, said the service helped to prevent anti-social behaviour. Finance bosses estimate that £2.8m will be saved next year and £4.5m the following year if the current proposals are given the go-ahead.

The council provides 38 youth centres across Staffordshire, but bosses say they want to move away from a traditional youth service open to all and 'target' the youngsters most in need.

MP's call to stop scramblers in tracks

AN MP has called for police action over motorcyclists churning up a beauty spot loved by walkers.

The scramblers frequently ride their machines across Shoal Hill Common, a designated area of outstanding beauty in Cannock.

South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson, whose constituency covers the area, is calling for action to address the illegal activity. He said the bikers posed 'a serious threat' to the residents' safety.

The problem started in 2011 when the owner of an adjoining former quarry hosted a one-off scrambling contest.

Locals at the time complained about the noise and dust. But riders have continued to use the land without consent ever since and are also using the common to reach the site.

Mr Williamson has contacted police to request they take action.

He said: "Not only are these motorcyclists potentially causing severe damage to one of our most stunning natural parks but their actions are beginning to present a serious threat to the safety of local residents."

"The police need to take immediate action to ensure that those walking on the common are protected and that these dangerous rides are brought to a halt."

Charlatans praise fans

LIAM Gallagher's Beady Eye and Charlatans singer Tim Burgess have thanked fans as £130,000 was raised in memory of Jon Brookes.

The Charlatans drummer, from Burntwood, died of a brain tumour last year aged 44. In a tribute show at the Royal Albert Hall, the Charlatans headlined and Gallagher performed with former Oasis guitarist Paul 'Bonehead' Arthurs.

Beady Eye and Burgess both took to Twitter to give thanks.

ECONOMY 7 OUT - SHS IN !! (ALL IN 1 DAY)

This incredible heating could be the answer to help beat the ever increasing energy costs and amazingly, it is not, gas or oil, or solid fuel - but electric! It's clean, Simple to install, Powerful, Economical, and no more servicing costs - EVER! All you need is a normal electricity supply and a plug socket and NO standard tariff like economy seven.

In Germany, Austria, Eastern Europe and even America, more and more people are choosing to heat their homes and offices with this very special form of electric heating in preference to gas, oil, LPG or any other form of conventional central heating or economy seven.

Here in the Midlands more and more of our customers are making that same decision and when you see this incredible heating for yourself, you could be next!

The heating looks just like a conventional radiator, but STOP! It is very, very different!

Put simply, the clunky central heating boiler needing constant servicing and replacement parts isn't the only choice any more!

Now you can choose to heat your homes, offices, extensions or conservatories with this incredible German heating which provides individual control over every single room without the need for a central control or space to site a boiler. Now the boiler space can also become a storage area!

Installation takes minutes and running is completely clean, there is no danger of leakage, no holes through walls, no floorboards up and no tradesmen trundling around the house wielding pipe cutters, hammers, wrenches and dirty work-boots. This incredible heating simply plugs in and that's it! Job Done! You can even do just one room or the whole house!

Whistleblower features in NHS video

ONE of the key whistleblowers into the Stafford Hospital scandal features in a new video urging workers to raise concerns in the health service.

Former Stafford Hospital A&E nurse Helene Donnelly, who has a new role as Ambassador for Cultural Change at the Staffordshire and Stoke on Trent Partnership NHS Trust, introduces the film.

Chief executive of the Staffordshire and Stoke on Trent Partnership NHS Trust Stuart Poyner said staff were encouraged to raise concerns.

He said: "Although we have many routes and opportunities for staff to bring up issues of concern, we need to do more to make sure they feel confident to do so."

"I hope this film will help staff feel better supported and reassured that we are listening."

The film also features district nurse Lizzie Burgess-Havard who was supported by Helene when she raised concerns.

Supportive

"There has been many a time during my career when I've wanted to raise concerns but I've been too frightened," she said.

"But when I finally did and my concerns went straight to the chief executive, I felt reassured. I have found the whole process very supportive and I feel safe."

"I have a duty of care to this organisation and I really feel I did the right thing."

"Things have improved for the better, for the staff and for the patients. I feel good."

Police in challenge to honour ex-officer

STAFFORDSHIRE officers and staff are joining the Run to Remember to honour an ex-policewoman who was killed in the line of duty.

The 20-strong team - including Cannock-based officers DC Clare Davenport, PC Jamie Gotheridge and PCSO Laura Sandy - are raising cash for the Nicola Hughes Memorial Fund.

Team Staffs have taken up the challenge to each run a total of 250 miles or more over a period of 125 days. They must complete the challenge by April 4.

Nicola was one of two officers killed while responding to a report of a burglary in 2013.

Her father Bryn set up the charity to raise money for Victim Support, the Care Of Police Survivors and the North West Police Benevolent Fund.

The challenge is being undertaken by officers and staff from 43 police forces.

Chief Inspector Phil Fortun who is co-ordinating the events in Staffordshire, said: "It is important to us that we support this charity."

Anyone wishing donate can do so by visiting: www.justgiving.com/StaffsPolice/

Chip pan risk highlighted

FIREFIGHTERS are highlighting the risks of cooking with chip pans this week-end. The county-wide campaign has been launched to coincide with the national Chip Week initiative.

Postcards featuring the 'top 10 cooking safety tips' are available from community centres, public buildings and shops.

Community Safety Officers will also be demonstrating the potential dangers in Market Place, in Cannock town centre, from 11am to 1pm tomorrow (Friday) and in Market Street, Rugeley, from 11am to 2pm on Saturday.

Gig fundraiser

DUO Breeze and Wilson will perform at a Rugeley club in aid of Macmillan Cancer Support. The gig takes place at Rugeley Progressive Working Men's Club, Mansfield House, Market Street, at 7.30pm on Thursday, March 20. Tickets are £5. Call 01889 582808

Burnham: Hospital needs 24-hour A&E

FORMER health secretary Andy Burnham has said A&E should run 24-hours-a-day at Stafford Hospital and other key services maintained.

But, on a visit to see student nurses at work last week, the shadow health minister defended his own roles in denying a full public inquiry into hundreds of cases of appalling care as well as the granting of coveted Foundation Trust

Andy Burnham MP

Help given to hospice by college

COLLEGE staff helped out at a local hospice.

Twenty staff from South Staffordshire College spent National Volunteer Day at St Giles Hospice, Lichfield, undertaking various tasks from painting and decorating to providing patients with beauty treatments.

Chairman of governors Ray Faulkner put together fundraising packs in the office, while workforce development operations manager John Renshaw designed a new night entrance for patients arriving late.

Principal Graham Morley, painted the office of the hospice's chief executive Peter Holliday, who said: "The support we received was greatly appreciated."

status.

He described plans to carve up the Weston Road hospital as a 'kick in the teeth' and said he felt an 'obligation' to the town.

Mr Burnham said: "I'm really clear - Stafford deserves a safe and sustainable hospital and when I was dealing with this issue that was very much at the forefront of my mind," he said.

"I appointed Robert Francis to begin the inquiries into what went wrong as we had to get to the bottom of it."

Basic

"Getting the truth was part of it. I think after everything they have been through, it would be kick in teeth to the people of Stafford if their hospital was to be broken up."

"I think everybody has an obligation to people here to give them a safe and sustainable hospital with the basic functions of a District General - a 24 hour Accident & Emergency, maternity, and all the things people associate with a decent hospital."

Prior to become Health Secretary under Gordon Brown, Mr Burnham was a junior minister in the Department of Health when Foundation Trust status was granted to Stafford and Cannock Hospitals.

He was invited to Stafford by the Support Stafford Hospital campaign group and saw the work of student nurses at Staffordshire University's health campus.

Bra bank supports charity

Natal Chapman and Michaela Kempson, of Energie Fitness at the bra bank

WOMEN have been handing over their unwanted bras to help support a charity.

Staff from Energie Fitness for Women in Hollies Park Road, began collecting the items at Cannock Shopping Centre last Friday and the initiative ran until Tuesday (February 18).

The Bra Bank is run in aid of the charity Against Breast Cancer.

Recycling bras prevents them from being dumped into landfills each year and the charity also recovers £1000 from every tonne donated.

Natal Chapman, Cannock Shopping Centre manager, said: "The funds raised go to an extremely worthwhile cause."

A postal recycling scheme for bras, mobile phones and ink cartridges is also in operation. Visit www.againstbreastcancer.org.uk for further information or call Wendy Taylor Hill, Director of Against Breast Cancer on 01235 534211.

Housing company buys out rival firm

A HOUSEBUILDING company has announced plans for expansion after buying a rival firm.

Chasetown-based Cameron Homes, which has developments throughout the Midlands, has bought Galliers Homes of Shrewsbury in order to develop a range of new housing schemes in Shropshire and mid-Wales.

"We are very excited about the future - this partnership will be of real benefit to the regional economy, creating jobs and providing much-needed, high quality new properties," said Nigel Clarke, who is stepping down as managing director of Galliers Homes but will continue as a consultant.

Plans for the future include the opening of a new Galliers office in Shrewsbury which will include a sales and marketing suite.

Galliers Homes was founded in 1987 by one of Shrewsbury's best-known businessmen Graham Galliers, who died in October last year.

Ownership of the business has been transferred to Tara Developments, Cameron Homes' holding company.

Ian Burns has been appointed as managing director of Galliers Homes.

Extra jobs at car firm

A GROWING online car buying business is recruiting another 20 call centre staff at its headquarters in Cannock.

WeWantAnyCar is on course to increase its current 62 branches to 100 by the end of the year.

Its latest branch in Wolverhampton, which employs two, opened in January at The Work Space at All Saints Action Network in All Saints Road.

The business, which started in 2010, has its head office in Wolverhampton Road, Wedges Mills. It currently employs 95 across the country.

Beetle drive

ST Michael's Church in Brereton is the venue for a beetle drive next month. It takes place from 7.30pm on Monday, March 3, with admission at £1.50 and eight bingo cards at 50p. Light refreshments will be served and the event will be repeated on April 7.

Concert just the ticket for cadets scheme

TICKETS are on sale for a concert at the Lichfield Garrick Theatre that hopes to raise thousands of pounds for Staffordshire Young Police Cadets.

The British Police Symphony Orchestra (BPSO) is performing on Saturday, April 12 at 7.30pm.

The event will have a Legends and Heroes theme with music including Rossini's William Tell Overture and Sibelius' Finlandia.

The cadets scheme was a key election pledge for Staffordshire's Police and Crime

Commissioner Matthew Ellis. It aims to strengthen links between the police and young people and promote good citizenship.

Successful cadets units have already been launched in Cannock and Stafford thanks to funding from patrons and sponsors.

Proceeds from the concert will help pay for the on-going roll-out of the cadets programme across Staffordshire, including the purchasing of uniforms and allocating transport.

Deputy Police and Crime Commissioner Sue Arnold, who is organising the event, said: "Staffordshire Young Police Cadets are already working hard to support their local community.

"The service is all about giving advantages to young people - some from challenging backgrounds - who through a positive and vibrant programme can learn how to become responsible citizens.

"We want to sell 450 tickets to raise money for the cadet charity and allow new units to be formed, uniforms to be provided, transport allocated and much more."

The BPSO is made up of musicians from across the UK, many who are either serving or retired police officers, police staff or other members of the extended police family. The orchestra's chairman is Staffordshire Police's Chief Constable Mike Cunningham.

Cadets work towards Duke of Edinburgh bronze, silver and gold awards having a go at hiking, climbing and orienteering.

Concert tickets are £18-£20, are on sale at www.lichfieldgarrick.com

VIP tickets, costing £40 and including a champagne and canapé reception, are also available.

Flats plan on land at historic pub debated

Report by Laura Blyth

PLANS to build new homes on land next to an historic pub in Rugeley looked set to be given the go ahead this week, despite concerns raised by neighbours.

Marstons PLC submitted proposals to Cannock Chase Council to build 19 apartments next to the Red Lion in Market Street. The pub dates back to the 16th century and is a grade II listed building.

The scheme was being recommended for approval by officers and a final decision was set to be made yesterday (Wednesday) at a planning committee meeting.

If the plans are approved, Marstons will sell the land to an interested party.

Two objections were raised with the council over the plans, with neighbours saying the development will add to parking problems in the area.

Principle

But a report to the committee ahead of the meeting states: "Overall the principle of developing the site for residential development is acceptable.

"The proposal to utilise a redundant car park for residential development is acceptable in principle as the site is within a sustainable town centre location and would provide additional housing stock.

The Red Lion in Rugeley

"It is important that any proposals for new development have regard for designated heritage assets."

The apartments would be built on a car park next to the Red Lion.

Neighbour Deborah Byrne, who lives in Market Street, had raised concerns when the plans were first submitted.

She argued there were already major issues regarding parking in the area, especially for residents trying to park outside their own properties.

And neighbours have also suggested that permit only parking in Market Street could solve some of the on-going issues.

PTA members, pupils and Chase View head Andy Minott with the whiteboard

All white for pupils as board is set up

YOUNGSTERS at a primary school in Rugeley are being taught with the latest technology thanks to a year-long fundraising campaign.

Nursery pupils at Chase View Primary have been treated to a brand new interactive whiteboard by the school's parent and teacher association (PTA).

The PTA spent 12 months raising funds for the £2,000 whiteboard, organising discos, bingo games, facepainting and movie nights.

PTA member Stephen Hopley said the whiteboard was given to the nursery as all other years in the school already had access to one.

"We thought it would give the little ones a good opportunity to get involved more with modern technology," he said.

"The whiteboard is interactive and links up to the computer so the youngsters can watch films and use the whiteboard to write on using the interactive pen.

"The idea behind it was to introduce the youngsters to technology and get them used to using it."

The PTA's next project will see members raising funds for radio microphones to use in school drama productions.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

IN A reckless moment I suggested the floods might spell the end of HS2. A few hours after that column appeared, a BBC report suggested the need to repair existing lines might put the future of the high-speed railway in doubt. And you can bet your life Auntie Beeb would not suggest such a thing unless she has been talking to someone important.

□□□□□□□□

IF the floods do lead to HS2 being cancelled, it will be the closest thing to divine intervention this cheerfully godless nation of ours is ever likely to see. Get ready with those hallelujahs.

□□□□□□□□

IN the meantime, is it too much to ask that every politician visiting the flooded areas might at least take a stirrup pump or a couple of buckets?

□□□□□□□□

I TRUST the foul weather has not interrupted your diligent save-the-planet routine of making sure the plastic bottles and glass bottles do not go in the same container. Has anyone noticed how much better the weather was before wheeheeheh?

□□□□□□□□

IT'S statins all-round. The wonder-drug of the cholesterol age is to be prescribed to millions of Brits, even those at relatively low risk of heart attacks. The aim, presumably, is to make us live for ever, or at least long enough to die from cancer or dementia. Progress, eh?

I LOST count of how many times Barclays chief executive Antony Jenkins used his bank's latest buzz-word on his Radio 4 interview. Barclays probably paid the earth for some City PR company to dream up this most vacuous of slogans and the intensely irritating Mr Jenkins was clearly getting his money's worth. Time after time he stressed that Barclays was becoming "the go-to bank." It is at moments like this that you wish radio were a two-way process and you could say to Mr Jenkins: "The very next time you insult my intelligence with 'the go-to bank,' I will reach through the loudspeaker and slap your legs very hard." Jenkins rattled on: the go-to bank, the go-to bank, the go-to bank. Got it? Later that day Barclays announced that, while the millionaire bosses were getting enormous bonuses, the bank was making 12,000 minions redundant. Barclays – the go-to the JobCentre bank.

SO farewell, Shirley Temple, not only the sweetest child ever to emerge from Hollywood but one of the first names I ever learned. If you were a boy, born in the 1950s and had a tousled shock of blonde curls, you got used to the big kids addressing you as: "Oi, Shirley bloody Temple."

I WROTE fondly a few days ago of the golden age of broadcasting when intelligence and learning were revered and one of the most popular programmes was the Brains Trust. A reader of the same vintage reminds me that this period of towering intellectual majesty also featured Archie Andrews, a ventriloquist act on the radio. That's right, a ventriloquist you couldn't actually see. Peter Brough made a good living talking to a wooden puppet on the radio. It was only when he and Archie Andrews appeared on television that we realised what a terrible ventriloquist he was. Agsolute gollox.

A CHARITY called Balance says the North East is in the grip of an alcohol epidemic which is costing the local economy £1.1 billion a year. Auntie Beeb promptly dispatches a radio crew to the blighted area where they find drinkers (or "vulnerable people," as the charity calls them) queuing up for the pubs to open at 8am and sinking six or 10 pints before lunch. The most striking thing was that these folk did not sound vulnerable or even depressed. They all seemed very jolly.

College praised for use of technology

OFSTED inspectors have praised the new Cannock campus of South Staffs College, saying they were particularly impressed with the use of bold and innovative technology to aid students' learning.

The college, rated 'good' by inspectors, has introduced state-of-the-art technology to its newly-transformed Cannock Campus at The Green.

It has been designed to facilitate 21st century learning where students use technology and digital media to communicate, working collaboratively with digital tools.

Students can also take advantage of dedicated areas around the campus, including My Space, a community café for using iPhones, iPads and tablets to surf the net, work or just chill out.

Touch screen tablets are available in the atrium open access points and learners can browse the internet for course specified resources and utilise installed apps.

State-of-the-art classrooms boast new standardised interactive Epson short throw projectors.

Interactive software allows staff and learners to write over documents and webpages, highlight, play video and annotate, generating personalised class screen captures which can be uploaded to the college's Virtual Learning Environment. Lessons are delivered in the campus's collaboration room, which allows staff and learners to communicate and work together using high specification PCs, while South Staffordshire College is the first in the world to have a 4D immersive learning space.

This is created through LED lighting, giant projection and surround sound and motion sensors.

Deputy leader of UKIP to give talk

UKIP deputy leader Paul Nuttall MEP will be holding a public meeting in Hednesford next week.

The MEP will be joined by UKIP European election candidates Bill Etheridge and Phil Henrick, to promote the party's common sense policies.

Master of ceremonies at the meeting on Thursday, February 27, will be Rawsley councillor Linda Whitehouse. It is being held at the Aquarius Ballroom, Victoria Street, at 7pm. It is free to attend and open to all.

Since re-opening the Cannock Chase branch of UKIP in September 2013, the party says it has boosted its membership by 90 per cent.

Mr Nuttall said: "I am delighted to have been invited to speak at this event in Hednesford."

"The Cannock Chase branch is flourishing and I have no doubt UKIP will do well at the European and Council elections in May."

Bill Etheridge said: "The Cannock Chase branch has gone from strength to strength. More and more people across the West Midlands and indeed across the country are turning to UKIP. The other political parties have failed us."

Firm's new appointment

A RUGELEY firm specialising in designing, developing and constructing natural wastewater systems has strengthened its team.

Wastewater specialist Phil Hooson has been appointed as business development manager at ARM Group Limited (ARM).

Mr Hooson will be responsible for developing relationships with water utility companies, consultants and contractors in the north of the UK.

He will be working alongside the existing sales team developing contracts and tenders and generating new business.

Stock donated

TWO high street stores have backed a craft and recycling centre based at Chasewater. Debenhams and WHSmith have agreed to donate surplus stock and unwanted store items to the Lichfield Scrap Barn, which provides a haven for artists looking for materials.

Hot tub fraud trio led millionaire's lifestyle

THREE bosses of a failed home hot tub business enjoyed lavish lifestyles using customers' cash to fund expensive cars and holidays, a jury heard.

Instead of fulfilling business orders, they lied about the product, sent out cheap alternatives or failed to deliver at all, Stafford crown court heard.

The Rugeley-based Spaserve eventually went under with debts of £2.7 million. Now its three partners are facing jail for fraudulent trading.

A jury heard how they used the firm as a 'cash cow' to rake in advance payments and deposits, telling customers the hot tubs were quality American-made units.

It is thought around 2,000 hot tubs were sold but only 1,600 delivered. Those delivered were made in China.

Operated

Angry customers staged a protest outside the premises on the Tower Business Park in 2010. Some had lost up to £12,000.

Staffordshire Trading Standards received more than 400 complaints about the firm, which also operated as Trade Price Group and UK Hot Tubs For Sale.

Principal shareholder Simon Foster, aged 48, of Sandfield Meadow, Lichfield; Stuart Cox, 49, a partner in the business, from Oak Way, Sutton Coldfield and office manager Johnathan Hussell, 36, of High Street, Dosthill, Tamworth,

by Marion Brennan

were found guilty of fraudulent trading and conspiracy to defraud following a three-month trial. They had all denied the charges.

Mr Adrian Keeling QC, prosecuting, said: "It was not run as a proper and honest business. It was run as a 'cash cow' with the simple aim of making these defendants money."

"Over a three-and-a-half year period, Foster in particular, in his own words, enjoyed a millionaire's lifestyle."

During its trading life, Spaserve received £6.5m of business before going into liquidation in 2010.

Customers were told lies to encourage them to sign on the dotted line or to stop them taking money out of the business by cancelled orders, the jury was told.

Judge Amjad Nawaz remanded all three on bail for reports with a warning they face a spell behind bars. They will be sentenced in April.

Hibernation talk topic

NATURE lovers can learn about hibernating mammals with three of the county's nature conservation groups.

Staffordshire Bat Group, Staffordshire Mammal Group and West Midlands Hedgehog Rescue will all be giving talks at Staffordshire Wildlife Trust's Wolseley Centre HQ tonight (Thursday) from 7.30pm.

The talks will focus on why they have developed hibernation to survive the winter, as well as how we can help them. Tickets are £3 per person including refreshments. To book, or for more information contact Staffordshire Wildlife Trust on 01889 880100.

Foster Centre commended

Steve Grant and Graham Morley with the Highly Commended award

A COLLEGE building near Penkridge, opened by Sir Ranulph Fiennes, has won top recognition.

South Staffordshire College's Foster Centre, based at its Rodbaston Campus, was highly commended at this year's Southern Staffordshire Building Design Awards.

Run by the Southern Staffordshire Partnership, they are open to architects, developers and builders involved in a building, public realm or refurbishment project within Cannock Chase, Lichfield, South Staffordshire and Tamworth.

The Foster Centre was unveiled in 2012 and incorporates the latest environmentally friendly technologies and practices.

Receiving the award at the presentation lunch, South Staffordshire College's Director of Estates, Steve Grant, said: "I am delighted to accept the design award."

Freeze on council tax backed by authority

CANNOCK Chase Council's leader said after a council tax freeze had been backed that efforts had been made to support residents despite Government funding cuts.

Cannock Chase Council's cabinet agreed last Wednesday there would be no cuts to services, no increase in council tax or any compulsory redundancies as part of the 2014/15 budget.

The Labour-run authority pledged to keep car parking fees at the same level, keep allotment fees as they are and also said pest control services should remain free.

Council leader George Adamson said the budget was being delivered in a 'very difficult economic context' and they were maintaining services, unlike other authorities. It comes as its levels of government funding is being reduced by £884,000 in this financial year.

Councillor Adamson said: "Despite the massive reductions in Government grant support, this budget supports businesses, families and vulnerable people as much as possible."

Cannock Chase Council has agreed no increase in its element of the council tax rates. It will need to be officially confirmed at the end of the month.

Quiz to start at village pub

A VILLAGE pub has launched a monthly pub quiz to raise money for local charities.

The quiz, at The Crown in Abbots Bromley, is being held on the first Tuesday of every month, starting next month on March 4 at 8.30pm.

Teams of up to four people are invited to take part, with profits going to local good causes. Entry price is £1 per person, with prizes of food and drinks vouchers. Jamie Lang, who runs the pub, said: "We look forward to hosting teams for what will be a fun night, with the bonus of raising money."

Lent course held

FINDING A Voice, a Lent course, based on 'The King's Speech', is being held at St Paul's Methodist/United Reformed Church, in Lichfield Street, Rugeley on Wednesdays March 19 and 26 and April 2, 9 and 16 from 2.30 to 4pm. To book a place call 01889 579453.

Sculptor chosen for land girls tribute

Denise Dutton works on a sculpture

A SCULPTOR has been appointed to create a £100,000 memorial to the women who worked Britain's farms and forests during the two world wars.

The bronze tribute to the Women's Land Army and Timber Corps will be sculpted by Staffordshire artist Denise Dutton who designed a land girl and a lumber Jill linking arms. Her great aunt Sheila Creasy served as a land girl.

One of the models will be local farmer's daughter, 22-year-old Izzy Wright whose grandmother Mary Wright, of Four Crosses near Cannock, was also a land girl.

The fund was launched two-and-a-half years ago by the Staffordshire Women's Food and Farming Union who are anxious to unveil the life-size sculpture before the women it honours die out. It would also be a fitting tribute in the centenary year of the outbreak of the Great War.

The sculpture will be erected at the National memorial Arboretum, at Alrewas.

Honour

Tribute co-ordinator Julie Scott said: "It is so important for us to have this memorial installed this year as many of these land girls and lumber Jills are in their 80s and 90s. We want them to see the tribute and accept the honour from the nation for their hard work and commitment during the war years."

The Women's Land Army first formed in 1917 and during the Second World War, more than 80,000 land girls were producing 70 per cent of Britain's food.

The Women's Timber Corps worked in forests and sawmills producing pit props, railway sleepers and barricades.

It disbanded finally in 1946, although the Women's Land Army was required to keep working for a further four years. In total, nearly a quarter of a million land girls and lumber Jills served the country.

Four national chains set to move in at retail park

FOUR national chains are set to move into Cannock's previously struggling Linkway Retail Park, which is currently undergoing a transformation. The move will bring in scores of jobs.

Homeware firm Dunelm is already preparing to open a new store at park, at Longford island off the A5, with 80 posts being created.

Four units are available at the site after part of it was rebuilt. Bosses have now revealed four national companies have been found and are expected to sign deals in the coming weeks.

Eighty jobs will be created when Dunelm opens later this year and the latest new stores are expected to lead to more posts being made available.

The park has been hit by a series of closures but now one of the vacant units is being rebuilt and extended.

Dunelm will take over a 20,000 sq ft unit being rebuilt on the plot of the former Focus DIY store, which has stood empty for nearly two years since the firm went into administration.

Organised by CreateChurch:Cannock, the CreateCinema:Club is held on the last Saturday of the month at the Electric Palace Picture House, Walsall Road.

Youngsters up to the age of 11 can watch classic children's films on the big screen with their parents or carers for just 50p each to cover refreshments.

Tickets will be available on the door on Saturday (February 22) from 10am when tea, coffee and squash will be available. CreateChurch:Cannock meets every Sunday from 10am at the cinema.

Process

Brian Thompson, a director at chartered surveyors Thompson Heaney, said: "We have four national chains lined up now but the legal process can take a while."

"Once the agreements are signed then we can move on with getting the new operators on to the site."

He said the names of the firms could not be revealed until deals had been signed.

He added: "It has been a very difficult process but we are pleased to make this announcement and it shows the market is picking up."

"This is a great scheme for the town and it's now onwards and upwards."

Hero paratrooper in cash collection

Ben Parkinson MNE with supporters of the Ambulance Hart charity at Sainsbury's Cannock

AN injured paratrooper whose bravery was rewarded with an MBE, visited Cannock to help raise money for charity.

Lance Bombardier Ben Parkinson is the most seriously wounded soldier to survive the war in Afghanistan.

He suffered more than 40 injuries in a bomb blast in 2006 and as well as brain damage which affected his memory and speech, he also broke his pelvis, his back in four places, shattered his arm and chest, and lost both legs.

L/Bdr Parkinson has defied the odds to walk again, and in addition to the MBE, presented to him by Prince Charles at Buckingham Palace, the paratrooper carried the 2012 Olympic Flame through his home town of Doncaster.

Dedicated

Now an ambassador for the Pilgrim Bandits charity, he was a guest at Cannock's Sainsbury's store, in Orbital Way, where he helped to raise money for a different cause, Ambulance Hart (Hazardous Area Response Team), which is dedicated to providing medical care to patients in a hostile environment.

Sainsbury's PR manager Heather Norman said L/Bdr Parkinson visited the store last Thursday (February 13), along with supporters of the charity. The team of volunteers included paramedics and police officers who gave up their time and helped to raise more than £300.

"We would like to say a very big thank you to all of our customers who supported them," she said.

NEWS in brief

Computer stolen from grandmother

A COCAINE addict stole a hand-held computer from her grandmother to settle a drugs debt, a court heard.

Danielle Harley took the £500 tablet when her grandmother gave her a lift. She took it with her when she was dropped off in Cannock and sold it to a computer shop for £120 to pay off a drug dealer, Cannock magistrates heard.

Harley, aged 24, of Lockside, Churchbridge, pleaded guilty to the January 25 theft. The case was adjourned until tomorrow (Friday) for reports.

The court heard she had been addicted to cocaine for 12 months.

Mayhem on the agenda at talk

ANDREWS

AS publicity stunts go, it is rather impressive. A 7ft by 12ft statue of a hedgehog has been installed in south London to promote David Attenborough's new TV series.

The life-like structure, placed in Clapham Common, took more than two months to create, and with 2,000 soft wood spikes, it is actually larger than a rhinoceros.

You hate to think what effect it will have on the drunks stumbling across it while taking the short-cut from the pub, especially when they try to explain the experience to their angry wives waiting at home.

"What? You've seen a 12ft hedgehog in the park? You'll be telling me next you're late because you bumped into George Michael."

NICK Clegg, don't you just love him? The esteemed Deputy Prime Minister's latest pearl of wisdom is that a fresh approach is needed with regard to drug-related crime, because the war on drugs is being lost.

And let's face it he's right. Anybody who thinks there is any chance of winning the battle against drugs needs only to take a trip to their local magistrates court for a reality check. Day in, day out, our courts are occupied by a non-stop procession of twitching, paranoid junkies shuffling their way into the courtrooms, chuntering obscenities to themselves as they fidget and fumble in their seats.

But if we are going to be seariously honest about this, governments don't have a great track record when it comes to winning the war on many crimes.

Okay, Mr Clegg will no doubt point to the success Britain has in dealing with the serious stuff, you know, like not wearing a seatbelt or smoking in the pub. But when it comes to the more bread-and-butter offences, the perpetrators seem to have a woefully unhealthy disregard for authority.

For example, does Mr Clegg seriously think any government is going to truthfully be able to say it has 'made burglary history'? Or that a future Liberal Democrat government would be able to 'win the war on murder'?

The reality is that it is pretty well impossible to 'win the war' on any major crime, surely, that does not mean we should throw in the towel and accept defeat. Are we now to turn a blind eye to street robbery or tax evasion, simply because those who are criminally inclined demonstrate a reluctance to change their ways?

Still, it was good to see that the Deputy Prime Minister decided to make his announcement in Columbia. You can just imagine half the country's drug barons nodding sagely in agreement: "I agree with Nick."

Come Together to hear Fab Four

Peter Dicks has Let It Be known he is dedicated to Beatles memorabilia, as ROB GOLLEDGE reports

'KNOCK-KNOCK' - 'who's there?' - 'One Direction' - 'One Direction, Who?' - 'Exactly!' jokes Peter Dicks.

It is a gag not unexpected from a man who for 13 years he has been reaching listeners across the globe as the host of the longest-running dedicated Beatles radio show in Europe - a show recorded in the basement of his semi-detached home in Walsall.

Peter's studio is crammed with every type of Beatles-themed merchandise you could imagine.

Posters, photographs, a toy Yellow Submarine, Fab Four liveried Corgi cars, and wall-to-wall vinyl.

There is a story behind every gem among his hoard. How he obtained it, why it is significant, and why he loves it.

Tenuous

And his own personal story is an incredible one. It started with a chance appearance on a local radio station. Now, he receives correspondence from Beatles fans all over the world and even Christmas cards from Yoko Ono.

But what makes his show unique is that he does not exclusively play The Beatles' tunes. He plays any music with a link, no matter how tenuous, to John, Paul, George, Ringo - even Stuart Sutcliffe and Pete Best.

He will play the music of Bob Dylan - explaining how the American singer-songwriter influenced the four Liverpudlians.

Another show will play Doris Troy because she was signed to The Beatles' Apple Records label and would later go on to work with George Harrison.

Fan and presenter of Beatles and Beyond, Pete Dicks, from Walsall

He's even had guitarist Jackie Lomax, who was signed up to Apple Records and worked with Harrison and Eric Clapton, appear on his show, stay at his home, and play a private gig for him and his wife Janet.

Any connection in any way, Peter is interested.

His own story started in 1999 when he was working for a motoring company in Birmingham and a colleague said he should write to the presenter of a local radio show about record collectors.

"He knew I collected records so said I should write in," he said. "So I wrote to show. It was not until the mid-60s when classical music was in Sgt Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band that I got into The Beatles - and it grew from there."

He records his show every week on equipment in his basement and sends it out to a string of community radio stations - including WCRfm in Wolverhampton and Chase FM in Cannock.

Due to the rise of the internet his show is available for download on iTunes which has seen it picked up by stations across the Pond and is a big hit with listeners in the USA which is currently celebrating 50 years since The Beatles arrived in the States. It is the only radio show to be recommended by The Beatles Story exhibition in Liverpool.

Now, the self-employed agency worker has been asked to help write books, appear at events and represented John Lennon on the BBC 'Greatest Britons' programme with Bill Harry, Paul Gambaccini and Bob Harris in 2002.

Envelope

The 60-year-old's most-cherished possession is a personal autograph to him signed by George Harrison and his favourite Beatles' tracks include I'm A Walrus and While My Guitar Gently Weeps.

As I sit in Peter's front room above his recording studio, he puts on a CD of the 1 album.

"What is your favourite Beatles song he asks me?"

As I frantically think of something intelligent-sounding to say, I remark that Hey Jude has become intolerable with McCartney reeling it out it seems at every opening of an envelope.

"Do you know about the swearing in Hey Jude?" Peter says excitedly.

"No," I exclaim.

With a cheeky grin he plays the song, turning up the volume at the key moment.

What is it? You will have to try to find it for yourselves.

THROUGH THE YEARS

A 60-year-old vicar born above a grocery shop in Wolverhampton presided over Elton John's wedding to Renata Blauel. Canon James Whild was the man to oversee the eccentric pop star's marriage to Renata Blauel in a ceremony in Sydney, Australia. Before emigrating in 1956, Mr Whild, who was born in Dudley Road, Wolverhampton, had been curate at St Luke's Church in Blakenhall.

WEST Midlands transport chief Phil Bateman was attacked as he went to the aid of a man being beaten in a pub brawl. Councillor Bateman, chairman of West Midlands public transport committee, was punched, butted and showered with glass as beer mugs were hurled at him in the Turks Head in Lancaster Circus, Birmingham. He had sprung to the defence of a man who was attacked while phoning for help following an assault on a woman.

A NAKED man brought a Wednesday keep-fit class to a standstill when he burst in and began performing obscene acts to the music in front of 60 shocked women. Some of the class at the leisure centre were upset, but others were unable to control their laughter. Police were unable to get a description of the man as few had been looking at his face.

THE wheels came off a day out for the Goodyear Pensioners' Club - literally. The coach carrying retired workers from the Wolverhampton tyre plant shed two of its wheels while travelling along the M6 in Warwickshire, just two hours after passing its MoT. The driver managed to steer the vehicle to the hard shoulder, and another coach picked the group up to take them to the Walt Disney ice show in London.

THE price of a pint of beer around the West Midlands was going up by 10p, following a shock rise by the brewers of Carling, Worthington and Grolsch. Wolverhampton-based Banks's also increased the price of its beer by 3p a pint, blaming soaring production costs.

GLAMOUR model Jordan emerged from the I'm A Celebrity jungle, declaring she was totally besotted with fellow contestant Peter Andre. She said her feelings for former boyfriend Stuart were crushed the moment she met the Mysterious Girl singer, whose picture she had on her wall as a child.

DEPUTY Prime Minister John Prescott was in Wolverhampton to launch the city's flagship Market Square development.

Move signals a new home for historic box

The 19th century signal box is lowered into place at its new home in Hednesford Park. The pavilion where it was boarded up and fenced off ready for renovation work to take place. It is due to be open to the public later this year after being restored to its former glory.

The structure which dates back to the 1800s, has been lowered into its new location at Hednesford Park.

Part of the Chase line near Hednesford station had to be closed in the early hours of Sunday as the signal box was lifted by crane over the track and on to a waiting transporter.

A small crowd gathered in the park as it was lowered into position near the pavilion where it was boarded up and fenced off ready for renovation work to take place. It is due to be open to the public later this year after being restored to its former glory.

A total of £30,000 had to be raised for its rescue, with £20,000 donated by Staffordshire County Council from the sale of Pye Green Valley for housing.

Unique

The remaining £10,000 was raised jointly by Cannock Chase District Council and Hednesford Town Council. District council leader Councillor George Adamson said: "Hundreds of these boxes have been lost up and down the country, so there's not many of them left.

"This is a unique part of Hednesford's heritage, and something that will now be very much unique to Hednesford Park.

"When it is open, the signal box will be used as a classroom for educational purposes."

The box will also be used as an office or base when there are events on at the park.

Originally intended for demolition by Network Rail, it was constructed in the early 1870s and has been used ever since on the Chase line.

Comeback concert a big success

THROUGH your pages we would like to express our thanks and gratitude to everyone who turned up at the Sight n Sound reunion gig at The Tackeroo, Hednesford on February 1.

The wall of faces as we walked out on to the stage was completely overwhelming, and at the same time created a wee bit of apprehension. But at the end of the first song, the huge round of applause and cheers soon rid us of any nerves we may have had.

It went on to be a fantastic night, and after chatting to some of the audience, it had been a social event for them, as they met up with friends whom they had lost contact with, so themselves had a lot to talk about.

We would like to thank Jeff from The Tackeroo, for convincing us to get back together, and for allowing us to use the Tack for our rehearsals.

Here's to the next time.
SIGHT N SOUND

Open both eyes for balanced viewpoint

RE: Helen of Hednesford (Chronicle, January 30). Her latest diatribe against the present government "that has systematically destroyed our country", serves only to show her utter lack of fair mindedness, probably based on the conviction that any socialist administration has been anything other than good for this country, when on many fronts the opposite is true.

The huge financial deficit this administration inherited can be laid to a large extent at the door of the Labour party. Who was it who left the clever little note for his successor that read... "there's no money left"? And which government opened our borders to millions of immigrants?

The Blair administration introduced the most duplicitous form of governance previously unknown in this country. It encouraged the false reporting of all types of national figures, crime, immigration numbers, NHS waiting lists etc etc that is only now beginning to be made public. There are two sides to every story, so it's sometimes beneficial to open both eyes for a wider, more balanced view.

Personally I believe this country has been badly served by both major parties combining to undermine the history and culture of this once great nation. In doing so they have stolen the birthright of our children and grandchildren and have trampled on the graves of those who fought and died to save our country and our way of life.

TOM, Norton Canes

Husband's praise for hospital staff

WITH so much criticism of the NHS lately, I wish to praise Cannock Hospital staff.

My wife is currently in Samuel Johnson Hospital, Lichfield, for rehab following a fall and fracture. For years she has been attending the rheumatology clinic at Cannock and received another appointment to attend. Samuel Johnson knew this, and ordered an ambulance to take her.

On the morning, she was feeling unwell, but was keen to make the appointment. I told the receptionist my wife was feeling unwell and she got up from her desk, leaving behind a queue of other patients and led us to the waiting area.

Staff found us a vacant room, turned on the heating and gave my wife additional blankets and a cup of tea. An ambulance was booked for the return journey and within five minutes the consultant attended to my wife. As he was finishing the ambulance came and my wife was pleased to have kept the appointment.

Ascot lunches enjoyed

HAVING read J. Wood's letter about the Ascot Tavern (Chronicle, January 23), I am aware everyone is entitled to their own opinion. But please publish mine.

I and various company have enjoyed Christmas day and Sunday lunches there, sitting in comfort being attended by the excellent staff at a very reasonable price.

J. Wood's opinion may have harmed the Ascot's reputation.

WILLI of Cannock

Don't try to fix what is not broken

RE: the Horse Fair roadworks in Rugeley. Are we just banging our heads together or has someone to die first?

I have witnessed first hand an ambulance heading towards Horse Fair and as I thought 'best of luck' it came to a standstill due to the gridlock.

Drivers had just nowhere to go, even the roundabout was jammed.

Is there more to this madness than what we are being told? Especially at a time when budgets are apparently tight.

Please why are they fixing something that is not broken? Perhaps the council would like to explain to us all why they have continued with this when the rate payers do not want the change.

As Helen from Hednesford said in a previous letter: "It's about time we started to kick back."

Locals are made to feel welcome at pub

I WOULD like to reply to the letter about the Ascot Tavern in Cannock.

I'm disgusted about the comments about the people in the pub being called barflies. How dare somebody come into our community pub and pull it to bits?

This pub is used by the locals that come off the council estate and no matter about the decor, locals still choose to use this pub as this is where we are made to feel welcome by Sue and Dawn that run it. The pub is due to be refurbished in the near future.

The comments made by J Hood are rude and slanderous. We would like to invite him to come and join us for a drink as the local barflies wish to buy him one.

D HOLDEN, Cannock

Labour's policies left the country bankrupt

HAVING read articles about the coalition cuts from Mr P Witten and Helen of Hednesford I would like to remind them of how the coalition have reached this point.

Labour basically left this country bankrupt. It was totally irresponsible for a minister to leave a note for an incoming government which read 'no money left, spent out'.

If you analyse their policies they failed on pretty much every one. Education was watered down, immigration had an open door policy, the amount they spent on welfare was enormous, to a point at which it was financially better off to remain on welfare. The NHS became target driven, forgetting the most important thing - their patients. Do you need reminding of Stafford Hospital?

Fundraiser is thanks for saving Adam's life

Adam Checkley, aged 21, who suffered a brain haemorrhage 10 years ago, at home with mother Alison

A WOLVERHAMPTON University student who suffered a brain haemorrhage as a child saved £1,300 for the hospital that saved his life.

Adam Checkley, of Heath Hayes, endured a 10-hour operation at Birmingham Children's Hospital after suffering a bleed on his brain. The 21-year-old spent three weeks in intensive care and had to learn to walk, talk and eat again.

He organised a charity disco at Churchill Victoria Working Men's Club in Hednesford to mark 10 years since it happened and to give something back.

He said: "It was terrifying for my family when I suffered a bleed on the brain but thanks to the doctors and nurses at the hospital, I pulled through and it is because of them that I am here today."

Mr Checkley's mother Alison said: "I am so proud that he has organised this event to raise some cash."

Petition on homes bid signed by thousands

MORE than 4,000 villagers have signed a petition against plans to build 141 homes on green belt land between Cheslyn Hay and Great Wyrley.

The proposal was originally thrown out by South Staffordshire Council last year, but Gavin Williamson MP said there was a 'risk' that the Planning Inspectorate would overturn the decision.

A total of 4,281 residents signed the petition against the Landwood Lane development, which they fear the plans would join the two villages together.

Mr Williamson has submitted the document to the House of Commons.

Identity

He said he was concerned that the proposals would 'erode' the 'distinct identity' of South Staffordshire's individual villages, and pose a risk of flooding.

The MP said: "I have been campaigning against the development since the proposal was first submitted to the district council and will continue our fight to protect the green belt. With the number of signatures already on this petition, the opinion of local residents is overwhelmingly clear. They do not want this development.

"Once we build on green belt land, we can never get it back. I strongly hope the authorities will take account of this petition and make the right decision."

Developer Ken Lees has appealed against the council's decision. He also challenged the council's 'local plan'.

Mr Lees, aged 77, says saying Wyrley has sufficient infrastructure to cater for more than the 56 homes earmarked in the blueprint.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes - not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people

I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Cadets in graduation ceremony

Police and Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis and unit leader special constable Tim Harris with the Cannock Cadets

The first batch of police cadets in Cannock have been recognised at a graduation ceremony at the force's headquarters.

Eighteen youngsters picked up their certificates as they took the official police cadet oath.

The Cannock branch is the second Cadet scheme to be set up in the county. Deputy Police and Crime Commissioner Sue Arnold said: "The lessons they will learn will be invaluable to them. They are a credit to Staffordshire."

Mr Ellis eventually wants to see 250 cadets across Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent. He said: "The heart of the scheme is to reconnect youngsters more widely with the police service in Staffordshire."

"It's about developing young people, building their leadership skills and understanding what it is to be a good citizen."

Rhiannin Hill, aged 16, a police cadet from Heath Hayes, said: "I have a huge sense of pride whenever I attend the cadets. I am so glad I joined Cannock Cadet Unit."

Tommy Glover, 15, from Cannock, said: "It is a great way of getting young people and teenagers in with the police and build a new bond together."

Budget cuts will hit the most vulnerable, claim

CAMPAIGNERS claim young people and vulnerable adults will be hit hardest by budget cuts in Staffordshire.

A huge programme of cuts has now been approved by Staffordshire County Council as it aims to make savings of £102million over the next five years.

The authority has warned services received by 17,000 vulnerable residents are under review. It currently spends £11.5m a year on services such as sheltered housing, emergency alarms and help for victims of domestic violence and teenage parents.

But bosses say there are too many different contracts with providers, meaning there is an overlap in the kind of care some people receive.

Day service centres for disabled adults will close or be downsized and youth centres across the county could also shut.

Steve Elsey, Unison spokesman for Staffordshire, said the cuts being made to youth services could lead to an increase in anti-social behaviour.

He said: "We are very concerned at Unison about these cuts because youth services are vital for youngsters in the area."

"It does not surprise me that the cuts have been approved but I am very upset about it."

Libraries

"I believe there could be an increase in anti-social behaviour if centres shut because young people may go down the wrong path if they have nothing to do and then it will be the taxpayers left to pick up the bill."

The council aims to shave £4.5m from the youth services budget, arguing that only one in five of 73,000 young people living in Staffordshire currently use council-run clubs.

Around £1.5m will be cut from the libraries budget over the next three years. Lichfield District Councillor Sue Woodward said she was concerned for the future of libraries, while campaigners have vowed to continue their fight to save council-run day centres for adults with disabilities.

Dave Bailey, of Old Fallow Road, Cannock, whose 46-year-old son Stuart is a regular user of Chase Day Centre in Longford Road, said he was now worried about his son's future.

He said: "These cuts are extremely disappointing. It is going to have a devastating effect on the lives of so many service users and carers and I am worried for Stuart's future."

Services that move will be run by charities, community groups and even private companies.

Finance boss Ian Parry defended the decision to approve the cuts, saying it was not a case of 'simply cutting or closing'.

He added: "It is going to be a challenge but this is something we have to do."

The signs indicate new record set

Communications Support Worker Louise Crow with Ben Silvester, aged nine, Toni Twist, 10 and fellow pupils PEOPLE from Cannock took part in a record attempt for the number of people signing and singing at the same time. The previous record was 116,980 and this year's estimate was more than 120,000.

The annual event raises funds and awareness for Sign-Health, a national healthcare charity for the deaf. Chief executive Steve Powell said: "The exact number of participants will be confirmed at a later date. At the moment we're still counting the money raised."

Among those taking part on February 5 were Norton Canes Primary, in School Road. Louise Crow, communication support worker, said: "The children, aged seven to 11, were taught sign language during a series of afternoon sessions and then put them into practice during an assembly."

Expansion boosts economy

A COUNCIL boss says the expansion of a business park creating 150 jobs will help Staffordshire's economy grow for years to come.

At least one firm is in talks to move into two plots at the Kingswood Lakeside Business Park in Cannock.

Work on the £650,000 expansion is expected to start on the site in the coming weeks.

Two new plots will be created at the park, next to the M6 Toll, and roads will be revamped. County Council spokesman Tom Hobbins said at least one business was interested in taking over the plots, but could not reveal its identity as negotiations were taking place.

Cabinet member for economy and infrastructure, Councillor Mark Winington said: "Kingswood Lakeside Business Park is playing a vital part in Staffordshire's drive to attract high quality businesses and jobs at this economically challenging time."

"The additional investment proposed is essential to realise the long-term potential of this site."

"Projects such as Kingswood Lakeside are ensuring that the county council is helping to create the right conditions for economic growth."

"This has significant benefits for residents and local businesses and bringing additional business rate income into Staffordshire."

Old sailor's talk coins an interest

CANNOCK TG

AT the January meeting, Joe Dyke gave a talk on 'coins through the ages'.

He told members that his interest began when he was a sailor and collected coins from the countries he visited. He now has a large and varied collection and gave historical facts and incidents on the subject.

Joe brought along a small selection of coins and said that in 1912 The Mint at Birmingham became involved in the manufacture of the silver penny for the home market.

His talk was fascinating and stimulated a lot of questions and discussion. The vote of thanks was given by Lesley Wilkes.

The Guild's 43rd birthday dinner was held at the Chase Golf Club on January 26. Val Beale, chairman gave the opening speech and cut the cake. The ladies were entertained by 'Kate's Party', Kate and Larry Rushton.

Kate sang a selection of songs mainly from the 60s and also had everyone laughing with her jokes and lively banter.

While she made a quick change of clothes, Larry played the guitar and the evening ended with members dancing, which was a wonderful end to a perfect evening.

Gillian Loftus gave the vote of thanks to Kate and Larry. Val Beale thanked the staff for the lovely meal and looking after the guests so well.

Accent is on fun at club's annual dinner

SOROPTIMISTS

CANNOCK Soroptimists celebrated their 59 years as a club at their Annual Dinner at The Barns on February 7.

Team president Sue Gay took the chair and gave a warm welcome to 76 Soroptimists and guests. Mistress of Ceremonies was Team President Pam McGauley, who entertained throughout with her lovely wit and humour.

Rotary Club president Alan Holdcroft was unable to attend due to illness but sent a message on behalf of himself and the Rotary Club, read by Rotarian Peter Gay, Past District Governor and husband of Sue. In the toast to Soroptimist International, Alan, via Peter, commended the organisation for their work.

Edna Schafer-Hughes, President of Midland Chase Region added her congratulations.

Speaker Derek Poulson entertained with his talk 'It ain't what you say, it's the way that you say it' - a whistle-stop tour of the British Isles in terms of accents and regional dialects.

Lions look to even better year

RUGELEY LIONS CLUB

RUGELEY Lions Club had a tremendous 2013 donating almost £3,000 to local and international worthy causes.

Members are now planning for this year and are hoping for an even better 12 months.

Plans include a duck race, an Easter raffle and a charity fair, as well as attending local fairs, and, of course, the Christmas float with Rugeley Rotary Club. Lion President Tim Burgin said: "We are hoping that this year will be the year for increasing our membership."

Anyone aged over 18 who would like to attend a 'Meet The Lions' evening to learn more of the club's activities and what membership entails can call 08458332906, e-mail rugeleylions@yahoo.co.uk or visit www.rugeleylions.co.uk or Facebook. Members will be in the Rugeley Tesco foyer on March 1.

A taste of the Orient for Chinese New Year

STUDENTS at a Penkridge school have been celebrating the Chinese New Year in style, cooking Oriental cuisine and learning useful phrases.

Lessons at Wolgarston High School in Cannock Road have been centred around all aspects of the Chinese culture.

In hospitality and catering classes, the focus has been on traditional Chinese food and the various intrinsic skills that are needed to create culinary masterpieces. Pupils have created various noodle dishes, while an inter-house competition was organised by sixth form students Sophie Mason and Abi Hyde.

They challenged their fellow classmates from Pyrenees, Rockies, Alps and Himalayas houses to make the most colourful and creative horse mask to celebrate the year of the horse.

Sarah Roberts, the school's learning resources centre administrator, said everyone had been enjoying the festivities.

She said: "What a way to start and celebrate the New Year through learning about and celebrating difference and diversity."

"The school has been working together to learn about and celebrate difference and diversity," she added.

"Through learning about our differences and diversity we can recognise and appreciate our culture in comparison to others and hopefully make the students and staff realise how lucky they are to have what they have got."

Students have also been learning about how workers can and should be treated ethically in the workplace. They watched a short video about working conditions in China, which featured sweatshops. Year 9 pupils watched a documentary about students and teachers experiences in China's school system.

Millie Boulton and Mia Williams with their noodle dishes

Staff Caroline Fillingham, Lindsey Allen, Sarah Roberts and Emma Priestley

And in computing classes students learned about the effectiveness of electronic translators such as Google. They sourced useful phrases to say in Chinese such as hello, Happy New Year and goodbye.

They all worked to produce an information sheet showcasing the phrases they had learned. And Maths took a Chinese twist with pupils being taught how to use Chinese multiplication methods in order to improve and build on their own multiplication skills.

Dance win such a feat

A GROUP of youngsters used their heads – and their feet – to win a top dance title.

The 10-strong team of pupils from Gorsemoor Primary in Heath Hayes, progressed to the national street dance final after winning the regional heats. The national finals take place in Oxford in June.

Vikki Ledo, delighted dance teacher at the Gorsemoor Road school, said she was proud of the youngsters' achievements. They beat 20 other primary schools from across the West Midlands.

The Dynamics team that fought off the competition in Birmingham comprised pupils aged from nine to 11, with two of the 10 from year five and the rest from year six.

Vikki said: "To come first overall from 20 other schools is just fantastic. I can't believe it."

Businesses duped by bogus wine firm

POLICE say a Staffordshire company has been duped by a fraudulent wine firm and are appealing for anyone that invested to get in touch.

Up to £1million is believed to have been invested in Le Bordeaux Wines Limited, which was launched on the internet in October 2012.

Detectives want to hear from anyone who has invested in the company after they were contacted by a firm in the county which fell foul to Le Bordeaux Wines.

Det Con Chris Pope said: "It is vital that all those who invested come forward."

"The company's website is now de-activated and if people try to access it they will be directed to Action Fraud and ultimately myself."

Le Bordeaux Wines website offered investment opportunities in the trading of fine wines.

Based in London in a virtual office, the company encouraged people to invest in it and sell wine to the company for it to sell on.

A Staffordshire Police investigation found wines sold to investors did not exist and investors who sold their wine through the company received no money.

A 25-year-old man from London has been arrested on suspicion of fraud by false representation and conspiracy to defraud. He has been bailed to a date in April. Anyone who has fallen victim should call 101.

Schools' cash boost thanks to M6 Toll

Colin Mabey, of MEL presents a cheque for £2,000 to Pat Davies, headteacher of St Joseph & St Theresa's

SCHOOLS in Burntwood have received a welcome financial boost from the operators of the M6 Toll.

Five schools in all were handed £2,000 by Midlands Expressway Ltd, including Boney Hay Community Primary and St Joseph & St Theresa RC School.

Schools within a five-mile radius of the Toll road corridor were encouraged to apply for the grant by the Schools Foundation. MEL visited the five winning schools and learned how the money will be spent.

At St Joseph & St Theresa it will be used to purchase IT software which is now supporting their Year 1 pupils learning in basic literacy and numeracy while Boney Hay have used the funding for classroom equipment such as a whiteboard and projector.

Boney Hay headteacher Jen Matthewman said: "The funding received has given us the opportunity to extend our provision for children with dyslexic tendencies."

MEL chief executive Tom Fanning said: "The response to the inaugural year of the Midlands Expressway Primary School Scheme has been a huge success and the initiatives we received have been very encouraging."

The application process for this year's scheme opens on March 17. Visit www.m6toll.co.uk/community for details.

NHS boss warns that hospitals may close

NHS boss Sir David Nicholson has warned that hospitals will have to close and services centralised to improve patient care.

Sir David called for a radical reorganisation of health services so a smaller number of larger hospitals offer most major surgery while smaller hospitals scale back the care they provide.

The head of NHS England, who has been accused of failing to act over hundreds of deaths at Stafford Hospital, warned the NHS could face a £30 billion funding shortfall in just seven years unless it changes the way it provides services and he called on politicians to back the controversial reforms.

Scandal

Sir David announced last May that he would quit in March, after coming under pressure since the publication of the Francis Report into serious failings at Stafford Hospital.

He was at the helm of the regional health authority responsible for Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust during part of the period of the scandal from 2005 to 2009. He was in that job from 2005 to 2006.

Sir David said: "I believe the NHS needs to embark on a programme of transfor-

by Adam Burling

mational change to frontline care, arguably the most significant since its creation."

He said the service was "fragmented and confusing" for patients and did not always provide the best possible care for the sick.

"Like every major health system in the world we face a big financial problem for the future," he said. "The sums don't add up."

"If we don't change, we face a funding gap that could be £30 billion by 2021."

Without sweeping change, services will not be sustainable, said Sir David. He added: "Our NHS does a superb job for millions of people, day in day out, but it cannot stand still - it needs to adapt to survive."

Tackling hate crime makes for a safer county

POLICE chiefs say tackling hate crime in Staffordshire is playing an integral part in making the county safer.

Staffordshire County Council's community safety boss Mark Sutton said addressing the issue was everyone's responsibility.

Speaking after a joint event to understand hate crime better and how it can be dealt with, he said: "It is hugely encouraging to see the positive force we have in Staffordshire across a range of organisations to stop hate crime."

"This type of crime has a devastating impact on people and communities and can have tragic consequences."

"It is hard to understand why anyone would commit this type of crime and it is important that perpetrators are brought to justice."

Mr Sutton added: "However it is vital that easily accessible support to victims is in place and that we are working to prevent this crime from happening in the long-term by addressing root causes."

Strengthen

"Staffordshire people should be confident that we have a committed team who are already doing a great deal to tackle hate crime."

"We know there is a lot to be done, but we are continuing to strengthen our partnership to make this county a safer place which is a priority to us."

Hate crime is when an offender targets the victim because of their sexuality, a disability, their race, religion, or gender.

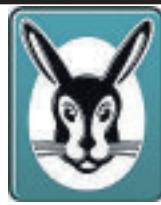

Chief Inspector Carl Ratcliffe from Staffordshire Police said: "Staffordshire Police is committed to reducing the harm caused by hate crimes."

"As part of our commitment to deal with what matters to communities, we are working with our partners to help raise awareness of hate crime and encourage people to report hate crimes to the police."

Committed to tackling hate crime – Staffordshire Chief Inspector Carl Ratcliffe

"This event has highlighted the commitment from a range of partners to tackle hate crime and make Staffordshire a safer place to live," Ch Insp Ratcliffe added.

MEMORY LANE

Ready for battle – troops of 1st Parachute Squadron in action at Arnhem

Arnhem — Tom's memories of the battle for a bridge too far

by Mark Andrews

THE memories of the battle of Arnhem of Sapper Tom Hicks, who served in the 1st Parachute Squadron, are brought to life in a memoir written by his son Norman, of Kinver.

The memoir, based on personal diaries and taped recollections, paints a dramatic picture of what it was like for thousands of young men who took part in the ill-fated attempt to capture the bridge across the River Rhine in 1944.

Tom, who is now 94, describes his descent onto the landing zone at Renkum, around seven miles from Arnhem: "It took as little as 20 seconds to reach the ground and an immediate awareness came over you as you took in what was happening around and above you," he says. "Men, containers and loose debris were still rapidly descending. Looking up, the canopies were still falling around me presenting a colourful sight"

Tom's participation in Arnhem was the result of his determination to participate in the war effort. As a locomotive driver, he was in a reserved occupation and when he applied to join the Commandos he was refused leave from his railway duties. "However, he then applied to join the paras, and they were told nobody could refuse to release anybody who had applied for the paras," says his son Norman, himself a 65-year-old former RAF man.

Tom tells of how he was filled with confidence when he, along with 2,277 other paratroopers, landed at Renkum on September 17, 1944. Almost immediately it became apparent that things were not going to plan.

Only half the Reconnaissance Squadron's Jeeps arrived due to several gliders failing to make it. It was five hours before the British troops reached the key bridge over the Rhine and they were only able to control the northern end. They found themselves surrounded by German troops. Most of the group that Tom had been with during the clean-up operation at the drop zone had been killed or injured. "It was obvious to us that things were beginning to fall apart," he says.

Tom had already received a shrapnel wound to the back of his neck and during the sixth day he was hit in almost exactly the same place.

Makeshift

He was taken by stretcher to a house which had been converted into a makeshift first-aid station. For Tom this would mean the end of the fighting. On September 24 a medical officer came in and told the injured men that the division would be retreating across the river and that the wounded would be left behind for the Germans to take prisoner.

"I lay on the floor for two days, during which time the house was hit by shell fire several times, and some of the wounded were wounded again," says Tom. "Men were moaning and some were screaming."

On September 26, the Germans announced their arrival by poking the gun of a tank through the window of the house. An SS officer then came into the room, accompanied by three other soldiers, and inquired about the welfare of an injured SS sergeant lying next to Tom. The SS officer surprised Tom by shaking his hand.

Tom was taken to the Stalag XIB Prisoner of War camp. "Two of my mates came into see me before they were due to attempt to break out," Tom remembers. "They left with a wave and a final 'see you Tom, when we get home'."

One of those friends was Allan 'Wakey' Wake, a 19-year-old. He was shot trying to make his escape across a river — one of more than 15,000 young men who would never return.

Captured At Arnhem, from Railwayman to Paratrooper, is published by Pen & Sword Books, priced £25.

Woman rescued in blaze

AN elderly woman was taken to hospital after being rescued from a fire at her home. The blaze broke out at the 87-year-old woman's house in Targate Court, Armitage, near Rugeley.

After she was rescued by firefighters paramedics took her to hospital where she was treated for smoke inhalation.

The fire broke out in the early hours of last Saturday morning and investigators visited the property over the weekend to try to establish the cause of the blaze, although there are not thought to be any suspicious circumstances.

Concert for Jon rakes in funds for charity

A CONCERT which saw former Oasis front-man Liam Gallagher play with an old band-mate for the first time in 13 years raised £130,000 for the Brain Tumour Charity.

The concert was held at the Royal Albert Hall in London in memory of late Burntwood musician Jon Brookes, drummer with The Charlatans.

The well-known Baggies fan died last September aged 44 after battling a brain tumour.

As well as a headline set by The Charlatans, the show featured Liam Gallagher performing with members of Beady Eye and guitarist Paul 'Bonehead' Arthurs, an original member of Oasis who left in 2000 after being part of the band's rise to stardom.

They performed Definitely Maybe classics Live Forever and Columbia before being joined by The Charlatans for a rendition of George Harrison hit My Sweet Lord.

Arthurs had not played with either Gallagher brother since the split.

Committed

Manic Street Preachers singer James Dean Bradfield and The Chemical Brothers also performed and a total of £130,584 was raised from ticket sales, donations and sales of memorabilia.

The charity's director of fundraising Louise Taylor said: "We are honoured that The Charlatans chose to support The Brain Tumour Charity in Jon Brookes's memory and are committed to ongoing support as patrons of the charity."

"The total amount raised is incredible."

"We are immensely grateful for the support of the band, their friends and everyone else who made the Charlatans' Jon Brookes gig at the Royal Albert Hall such a success."

More than £3,000 was also raised at a memorial gig at Darlaston All Active, featuring a host of bands as well as Britain's Got Talent's Connie Talbot.

More than 200 mourners attended the father-of-three's funeral at Christ Church, Burntwood.

In the wake of his death Charlatans lead singer Tim Burgess revealed the band had received tributes from fans around the globe.

Fundraising continues and a limited amount of Pete Fowler photo prints from the Albert Hall night is available in the store at The Charlatans website.

Lord Cormack talk on upkeep on cathedrals

VETERAN parliamentarian Lord Patrick Cormack will address the topic of who should be responsible for the upkeep of the nation's cathedrals.

The former South Staffordshire MP will share his views in the inaugural Ann Fender Memorial Lecture at Lichfield Cathedral on May 1.

The event is a tribute to Lady Ann who worked to bring Lichfield Cathedral, and its architecture and treasures, to public attention. It will be held every two years.

One of the best-known figures in Staffordshire business circles over 30 years, she was also a Deputy Lieutenant of Staffordshire and a Governor at Staffordshire University.

Lord Cormack, who was knighted in the 1995 New Year's Honours List, served on the General Synod of the Church of England from 1995 until 2005.

He was MP for Cannock between 1970 and 1974 and South Staffordshire from 1974 to 2010. He has written six books, mainly on English cathedrals and British castles.

The lecture, called Cathedrals, Faith and Heritage: Whose responsibility?, is free to attend but donations will be invited towards the conservation of the east end of the cathedral.

PENKRIDGE IN FOCUS

Opponents of HS2 take petition to market

HUNDREDS of signatures were collected during a day of lobbying as shoppers were invited to support the Stop HS2 campaign.

Opponents of the proposed high-speed rail line gathered at Penkridge Market last Saturday (February 15).

They plan to send the petition to Staffordshire County Council when it reaches 5,000 names to demonstrate the strength of feeling against the scheme.

After the weekend's efforts the list now stands at 'well over 4,000' according to campaigner and retired consultant surgeon Francis Murphy, of Aston, near Stone.

Encouraging

He said: "Around 90 per cent of the people we asked signed the petition, with about five per cent saying they were in favour of it and another five per cent who were too busy to stop. It was an encouraging response."

The pressure group has already collected signatures at similar events in Stone and two in Stafford.

Mr Murphy, who was joined by wife Madeleine and their two grandchilddren, said the line was becoming ever more expensive, would destroy ancient woodland and create harmful noise pollution.

"The cost is going up all the time. Everyone in the country will have to pay £3,000 towards it," he said.

The line, which will see trains travel at speeds of up to 225mph, will cause irreversible damage and not deliver promised benefits to the country, say its opponents.

But bosses predict it could create 50,000 jobs in the West Midlands and boost Britain's economy by £15 billion a year.

The petitioners will look to add more names when they take a stall at Stone Market on March 1.

Heartfelt donation to help save lives

First responder Mike Tym and council chairman Sandra Chambers at the official launch of the defibrillator PENKRIDGE First Responders have installed a defibrillator at a village centre. The life-saving equipment was unveiled at a ceremony the Haling Dene in Cannock Road.

The equipment was purchased after the council donated £1,000 to the First Responders team.

Parish council chairman Sandra Chambers said: "Acting quickly when someone is in cardiac arrest is crucial. Defibrillators save lives and are simple to use."

Councillor Sean Flynn said the defibrillator can be accessed by the public via a special code by dialling 999.

Fundraising book fair

A BOOK fair will be held to raise money for charity this weekend. The annual event takes place at Peace Memorial Hall in Pinfold Lane, Penkridge on Saturday (February 22) with money raised going towards Save the Children. Anyone wishing to donate books should call 01785 712682 or 01785 714355.

New venture is icing on cake for Samantha

TWO new shops have opened next door to each other in a village, bringing two empty units back to the life.

Funky Fairy Cake Stop and Sure Strings have both now launched in Bridgtown.

Samantha Lote launched her cake baking business from her Norton Canes home around 12 months ago.

But she decided to open her own shop as her home was no longer big enough to cope with orders.

The 35-year-old, who has moved into a unit vacated by a previous cake shop in North Street, said: "It all got too big for the kitchen and I wanted to move into my own space. That's why I got the shop."

"I've never opened a shop before but it's always been a dream of mine."

Mrs Lote has completed three times at Cake International at the NEC, winning silver on each occasion, but was determined to go one better this time around.

Passion

She added: "This November I'm hoping to get gold."

"Baking has been a lifelong passion for me. I bake cakes for all occasions but specialise in wedding cakes"

The store opened on February 1 with around 60 shoppers popping in to have a look around.

Mrs Lote added: "The Saturday was fantastic. We were giving away free tea and cake."

"We had about 60 people come in and see us. It was busier than we thought it would be."

"We're also putting on cupcake classes and had people sign up to them," she added.

To sign up, or to get in touch, e-mail Samantha.Lote@btconnect.com or call Funky Fairy Cakes on 01543 459064. Meanwhile sports lover Stuart Os-

Samantha Lote who has opened up a new shop called Funky Fairy Cakes

Stuart Osborne who has opened a sports shop called Sure Strings borne has opened Sure Strings, selling squash and tennis racquets and offering a restringing service. The shop previously sold fashion accessories.

Confident

Father-of-two Mr Osborne, aged 40, previously worked at sports retailer Decathlon in Wednesbury but took the gamble to quit and launch his own venture. He said he was optimistic it would get off the ground. Mr Osborne, who lives in Willenhall, said: "We opened a few weeks ago."

"There was no other sport shop in Cannock or surrounding villages so I thought Bridgtown was a good location."

"I know it is hard to establish a new business on the high street but I'm confident it'll be a success."

Three now left standing as Lib Dem leader quits

THE leader of the Liberal Democrats on Cannock Chase Council has quit the party after 35 years to become an independent.

Councillor Danny Davies' defection means only three Liberal Democrats remain on the district council.

Before going into the 2010 election the Lib-Dems were the ruling party on the authority.

The 66-year-old councillor said his decision was the result of 'personal differences' with local party members that could not be resolved.

He said he had the 'staunch' support of fellow Lib-Dem councillors Paul Fisher, Ray Jones and Gerald Molineux who had tried to persuade him to stay on within the party. He said: "It's a shame it has come to this."

Councillor Davies, who represents the Rugeley ward of Etching Hill and the Heath, has not yet decided whether to stand in the May elections when his term of duty ends.

He said: "I have tried to resolve the issues over the last few months but it was no good. I would have gone earlier but my fellow councillors persuaded me to stay on and try to sort it out."

Differences

"The problem had nothing to do with policies," he added. "It was more a matter of personal differences but I don't want to say any more than that."

Councillor Davies has sat on Cannock Chase District Council for 30 years and fulfilled many roles in the cabinet.

As environment chairman, he brought in fortnightly bin collections. He has also chaired the planning, economic development and scrutiny committees.

He was a Staffordshire county councillor for 12 years, until 2009, and became the first chairman of Rugeley Town Council in 1988.

It is the latest in a spate of defections on the Cannock Chase district authority. Last year three councillors, John Bernard and his wife Ann and parish councillor Alan Dean, deserted the Conservatives to join UKIP.

First aider in line for award

A ST John Ambulance volunteer who has dedicated her life to training people to save lives has been shortlisted for a national award.

Carol Trigg, of Burntwood, was named as volunteer of the year for the Midlands and is now up against seven other regional finalists for the overall title. The winner will be announced on March 26 at a ceremony in London. To vote, before March 2, visit www.sja.org.uk/everydayheroes

The 56-year-old joined the charity as a cadet aged just 11 and was recognised for her outstanding service.

Mrs Trigg, who is also a magistrate, continues to train people in first aid as area training specialist for south and central Staffordshire despite suffering a serious loss of vision that means she only has 20 per cent sight in one eye and needs to use a guide dog.

She is also chairman of the St John Ambulance Fellowship branch.

She said: "I am absolutely thrilled, it is such an honour just to have been recognised."

Tom Jones

The Voice UK BBC1, 7pm
While Will's team, including Anna McLuckie, Femi Santiago, James Byron, Jermain Jackman and Sophie-May Williams are all hoping they have the right stuff to go all the way to the final, even that is no guarantee of post-series success. Of course anything can happen during this latter stage of the blind auditions, and with new mentors – Kylie and Ricky Wilson – shaking things up in recent weeks, it looks like regulars Tom Jones and Will.i.am have their work cut out if they're going to keep their turns in the game and stand a chance of winning.

Laura Main

Call the Midwife
BBC1, 8pm
Babies, medical emergencies, period costumes – no wonder this series continues to clean up in the ratings, it's got all the ingredients you could possibly want from a Sunday night drama. And for anyone who thinks it might benefit from a little more romance, you're in for a treat this week as Trixie catches the eye of the local curate, Tom. While we normally wouldn't have thought Nonnatus House's resident blonde bombshell would be the type to have her head turned by a clergyman, she's thrilled when he asks her to join him for a day of cricket.

BBC1

Film Choices

Monday

Austin Powers: International Man of Mystery, Channel 5, 11pm
A velvet-clad, sex-crazed secret agent from the 1960s agrees to be put into a state of suspended animation after his arch-enemy escapes justice. Thirty years later he is defrosted to do battle with the power-mad villain again. Spoof spy adventure, with Mike Myers, Elizabeth Hurley, Mimi Rogers and Robert Wagner. (1997)

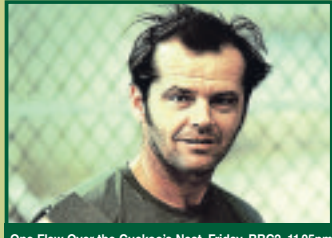

Wednesday

Beginners, Channel 4, 12.05am

A man starting a relationship looks back on the last years of his father's life, when he came out as gay at the age of 75. He recalls the old man's passionate new outlook on life, and ponders what the experience can teach him about his current romance. Comedy drama, starring Ewan McGregor and an Oscar-winning Christopher Plummer. (2010)

The Well, Channel 4, 1.50am

The son of a rich white man is suspected of being behind the disappearance of a five-year-old black girl, causing a near riot among the black community. When she is later found trapped in a well, the townspeople set aside their racial differences and unite to rescue her. Drama, starring Richard Rober, Henry Morgan, Barry Kelley and Christine Larson. (1951)

One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest, Friday, BBC2, 11.05pm

Thursday

Hunger Point, Channel 5, 3.15pm

Two sisters struggle to come to terms with the legacy of their mother's obsession with dieting and physical perfection. As they try to beat the strict conditioning she instilled in them, they begin to rebuild their shattered family life. Drama, starring Barbara Hershey, Christina Hendricks, Susan May Pratt and John Getz. (2003)

Friday

Black Friday, Channel 5, 3.20pm

An expert in bank security systems is forced to commit a crime when her daughter is taken hostage. The girl's captors order her to break into a dead cop's safety-deposit box and retrieve a vital piece of incriminating evidence. Thriller, starring Amy Carlson, Judd Nelson, Thomas Ian Griffith and Darcy Rose Byrnes. (2007)

One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest, BBC2, 11.05pm

A rebellious convict gets himself sent to a psychiatric hospital, thinking it will be easier than prison. Finding himself surrounded by institutionalised patients, he encourages them to rebel against the tyrannical head nurse. Miles Forman's Oscar-winning drama based on Ken Kesey's novel, starring Jack Nicholson, Louise Fletcher, Brad Douir, Christopher Lloyd, William Redfield, Will Sampson and Danny DeVito. (1975)

Pick of the Week

Courtroom drama is back on the defence

British TV viewers seem to love nothing more than a good crime drama. Programmes such as Broadchurch, Inspector George Gently and DCI Banks regularly do well in the ratings, but they tend to concentrate on what happens when the culprits are caught – we rarely see what happens to them after that.

Law & Order: UK manages to straddle both the investigation and the prosecution, but without the depth legal drama fans probably crave. Kavanagh QC did delve into that side of things, but few series since then have managed it – until Silk, BBC1, 9pm made its debut in 2011.

We're thrilled to see it back for a third series, and with its original stars, Maxine Peake and Rupert Penry-Jones, still on board. Both are in-demand (Peake has also turned to writing recently – her first play, Beryl: A Love Story on Two Wheels, will open at the West Yorkshire Playhouse in Leeds in June), so it wouldn't have been a major shock if they were too busy to participate in Peter Moffat's acclaimed drama.

Her character, Martha, is thrown into the thick of things as soon as the new series begins when she's asked to defend the son of the head of chambers who has been arrested for killing a police officer – and as the evidence stacks up against him, her job seems to get increasingly difficult.

Meanwhile, Billy struggles with a secret and a new practice manager sends ripples through the clerks' room.

Maxine has played both criminals and lawyers during her career, and is very clear about which is the more challenging role.

"It's much more interesting being in front of the court," she admits. "And I think performance-wise, it's harder pretending to defend someone than being the defendant."

Female QCs are few and far between – there have only ever been about 300, according to Bar Council statistics – but Maxine had help when it came to research from a formidable role model.

"I met with Helena Kennedy QC at a charity event at the Royal Courts of Justice, around the same time I knew I was going up for the part," reveals Maxine. "I remember thinking this woman is quite special and I'd like to find out more about this world."

"It's scary and it's true that women don't get a fair crack at the whip, partly because as a woman you have to make sacrifices, such as deciding whether to have a family, and being a QC takes over your life."

However, Martha is no dowdy, lifeless, career-driven soul.

"I wanted to make her a little bit glamorous, I feel she's got her own personality, she's a bit rock 'n' roll. She's definitely into her music. It's funny because my friends were like 'hang on, that's you,' because I love my music and red lipstick, which worked for the character too."

But has playing Martha given Maxine a taste for the legal profession?

"I find it fascinating but I don't think I'm quite cut out for it!" she laughs. "I think I'd get far too involved and that's what you see with Martha. I'd find it really difficult to switch off and I think you sort of have to, because people's lives are in your hands."

Neil Stuke, Miranda Raison and Frances Barber also star.

Rupert Penry-Jones and Maxine Peake star in Silk, Monday, BBC1, 9pm

Best of the Rest

Monday

The Gadget Show, Channel 5, 7pm

This year marks Jason Bradbury's 10th as host of The Gadget Show, a series that kicked off in June 2004 with Adrian Simpson, Jon Bentley, Bradbury and Suzi Perry examining camcorders, TVs, cars with heads-up displays and mobile phones. The first of the new line sees the return of Oris Deley. He, Rachel Riley and Jason explain why the desktop PC has fallen out of favour. Oris will also nip to Italy to test iCub, a robot that learns skills from social interaction. As instantly retro photos are still hugely popular, Jon and the Beatles' former photographer Paul Beroff will be following a Fab Four tribute band around Liverpool. Plus, online video stars Matt and Darren test portable gaming devices.

DCI Banks, ITV, 9pm

If Stephen Tompkinson played DCI Banks like his first major character, Drop the Dead Donkey's dodgy cameraman Damian Day, you could expect planted evidence and false testimonies left, right and centre. Fortunately, Banks is far more dedicated to the truth – and in the conclusion of this two-parter, he's having to go all-out to find it. He learns of a mysterious tape recording that appears to link Matt Barber's father Jack, who was the original investigating officer in the John Gaunt case, with the Crystal Kiss – and faces a race against time to retrieve it. Helen, meanwhile, thinks she has all she needs to push the former copper harder.

Tuesday

Death in Paradise, BBC1, 9pm

Tycoon Alexander Jackson, owner of Sebastian Island, has been shot dead at a family gathering. As there is only one property on the island, and access is limited to one jetty by boat, the suspects are Alexander's three kids, housekeeper Rosie, and PA Emily. They were all at the house at the time of the crime. However, with only one of the late man's sons able to provide an alibi, Humphrey Goodman (Kris Marshall) and his team hope they can crack the case before the killer strikes again. With a hurricane approaching, the crime-busters could be stranded until the storm passes.

Wednesday Line of Duty, BBC2, 9pm

The art of any great drama in these days of multi-channel viewing is grabbing the audience by the scruff of the neck and not letting go until the closing titles. Which is one of the reasons this fast moving, hard-hitting cops-and-robbers saga has touched a chord with the masses. In the latest offering Lindsay is remanded in custody on a murder charge, and her first thought on hearing the verdict is wondering who will take care of Bella, her cat. When she becomes the victim of a violent attack, Lindsay confides in Kate that she had a previous relationship with an executive police officer – who may have wanted her framed.

Suspects

Channel 5, 10pm

A woman has been attacked by the West Willow canal by a man wearing gloves and a balaclava. There is no CCTV footage, which naturally makes life difficult for crime busters DS Jack Weston (Damien Molony) and Charlie Steele (Clare-Hope Ashitey). The fact there have been two other rapes within a mile-and-a-half radius makes them suspect recently released serial rapist George Callahan. When pulled in for questioning, he claims to have been watching football at home, and both his home CCTV (installed since his release) and his girlfriend Annette (Annabelle Apson) corroborates his alibi. Jack smells a rat, while DC Steele is stunned that the latest rape victim is the station's chief superintendent's wife.

Thursday Inspector George Gently, BBC1, 8.30pm

As well as letting us admire the 1960s fashions, Inspector George Gently also examines the social issues of the time, and this episode, the last in the current series, turns its attention to the decline of the coal industry. The once-thriving colliery town of Burnside is facing an uncertain future

Suspects, Wednesday, Channel 5, 10pm amid reports that the National Coal Board is planning to close the mine – and the atmosphere is about to get even more tense after the body of miner Arthur Hawkes is discovered in the pit. Gently and Bacchus are called in to investigate, and discover that union man Hawkes had been in conflict with his 'comrades', as well as the management.

Friday

Jonathan Creek, BBC1, 9pm

Alan Davies recently tried out an unlikely new job – winter-sports reporter. He's been bringing us his own unique take on the action from Sochi in BBC Two's Apres-Ski. But now he's getting back to a more familiar role, that of master illusionist Jonathan Creek. The first episode seems tailor-made for him, as it involves a West End leading lady Juno Pirelli (Ali Bastian) who is found stabbed in a locked dressing room. But now he's happily married and working alongside his wife Polly (Sally Alexander), can Jonathan be persuaded to return to sleuthing?

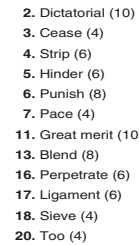

Edge of Heaven, ITV, 9pm

He may have a Wham!-obsessed mother and live in Margate's only 1980s-themed bed and breakfast, but it seems unlikely Alfie will be in the mood to jive around the kitchen to Wake Me Up Before You Go-Go. If you missed last week's opening instalment of this promising comedy drama, it saw him being ditched at the altar by his bride Carly, who then went off on their honeymoon on her own – which she clearly enjoyed because she's now back with a new boyfriend.

Your guide to the latest motoring news and views

Would you Adam and Eve this?

Better by far to find only a little more for one of the 1.4s, an 87PS unit that manages 62mph in a far more acceptable 12.5s on the way to 109mph. And a 100PS engine that improves things further to 11.5s and 115mph. Ask for something a little more hi-tech and the designers will point to the three cylinder 1.0-litre petrol unit also developed for this car.

Official fuel consumption figures in mpg (l/100km) Highest: FORD Focus 1.6 Duratec Ti-VCT (85PS) 5 Door, MS: urban 34.0 (8.3), extra urban 61.4 (46), combined 47.9 (5.9). Official CO₂ emission 136g/km. Lowest: FORD Fiesta 1.0 Duratec (80PS) Stop-Start, MS: urban 55.4 (5.1), extra urban 74.3 (3.8), combined 65.7 (4.3). Official CO₂ emission 99g/km. ¹Finance subject to status. Guarantees and warranties may be required. ²Freight (Fleet only). Facility fees (where applicable) is payable with first payment. Deposit allowance only available when financed with Ford Credit. Purchase price (where applicable) is payable with the first payment. Terms and conditions apply, please ask a full dealer. This compares all previously advertised popular car's consumption. VW pumping up power

At the 1974 Geneva Motor Show, a sleek new Volkswagen hatchback coupe made its debut.

Forty years and over a million sales later, the Volkswagen Scirocco is preparing to return to Geneva, with a new range of advanced engines that offer up to 280 PS yet also promise fuel efficiency improvements of up to 19 per cent, without compromising the Scirocco's dynamic performance.

Externally, the Scirocco's stylish shape has been refined and modernised with new headlights and tail lights, as well as revised bumper styling. The revised front bumper features aerodynamic 'blades' in the outer section, like those of the latest-generation Golf GTI, with integrated indicator lights, daytime running lights and fog lights. On models fitted with the optional bi-xenon headlights, the daytime running lights are LEDs within the main headlights. At the rear, all Sciroccos now have LED tail lights, while the bumper has been reshaped to appear lower and more purposeful. As on a Golf, the Volkswagen logo badge now has an additional purpose: functioning as the tailgate release handle.

As before, the range-topping Scirocco R has a distinct look, with bespoke bumpers and alloy wheels. The Scirocco R now comes as standard with 18-inch 'Cadiz' alloy wheels, as on the Golf R. The rest of the range also receives new alloy wheel designs, including the option of the 'Talladega' alloy previously reserved for the 'R'.

Under the bonnet (which as before features the Volkswagen roundel) are six new turbocharged direct-injection petrol and diesel engines, all of which meet EU6 emissions standards and return between 68.9 and 34.9 mpg.

Inside, the dashboard has been updated, with new-look dials and an auxiliary instrument cluster above the centre console, consisting of chronometer, charge pressure and oil temperature gauges – a tribute to the 1974 model.

Orders open in the UK in May, with first deliveries in September. More details available closer to launch.

The fastest model from SEAT set to make its mark

SEAT has revealed the quickest and most powerful series production car it has ever made: the SEAT Leon Cupra 280.

The Cupra 280 sits at the top of a five-strong family of brand new Cupra models that begins with the 265PS Leon SC Cupra and ends with the five-door Cupra 280 DSG.

Every Leon Cupra completes the benchmark 0-62 mph sprint in less than six seconds, while all manual versions return exceptional 44.1 mpg average fuel consumption.

But the Leon Cupra is a car whose development was led by the pursuit of dynamic excellence.

To that end, every Leon Cupra comes as standard with a mechanical front axle differential lock, a progressive steering system that sharpens the turn-in for improved agility, DCC dynamic chassis control to alter the suspension settings between sportier or more comfort-oriented, and two-stage deactivation of the electronic stability control (ESC) – including the ability to turn it off entirely.

These are on top of fundamental changes compared to the previous Leon Cupra: the new Leon is built on an all-new chassis, with a wider front track and fully independent suspension front and rear.

"The new Leon Cupra is pure SEAT: emotion and performance, design and dynamics combine to deliver driving fun mile after mile. State-of-the-art technology is evident in its enormous precision, but also in its compelling efficiency," said Dr Matthias Rabe, vice-president of SEAT SA for research and development.

"The new Cupra is a sports car for every day; it feels just as much at home on the race track as it does on the long haul."

Dynamics

The Leon Cupra models embody the SEAT brand values in the best possible way. They combine exhilarating dynamics, state-of-the-art technology, stunning design, premium quality, outstanding efficiency and excellent everyday usability.

"With the new Leon Cupra, the SEAT brand is once more taking a major leap forward. The Cupra is a refined, high-performance car that combines its expressive dynamics with relaxed long-distance comfort and a compelling, high-quality feel," says Jürgen Stackmann, CEO of SEAT SA.

"Driving fun and great design comes with every Leon, but the new Cupra displays SEAT expertise in a whole new dimension. We are proud of this new brand icon and certain of its success."

Cupra stands for power, performance and dynamics – and the new Leon Cupra and Cupra 280 have all those qualities in abundance. The Cupra 280, with optional DSG transmission, catapults from zero to 62 mph in just 5.7 seconds, or 5.8 seconds with the six-speed manual gearbox equipped; every Cupra model has a 155 mph limited top speed.

Impressive

The 350Nm maximum torque of both versions spreads from just 1,750rpm all the way up to 5,300rpm, guaranteeing impressive pulling power and overtaking flexibility.

Against this, the new Leon Cupra is astonishingly efficient. The average fuel consumption for both power variants is just 44.1 mpg with a manual gearbox equipped, and 42.2 mpg with DSG.

This equates to CO₂ figures of just 149g/km and 155g/km; by comparison the second generation Leon Cupra R with 265PS emitted 190g/km CO₂.

BMW recruits for graduate scheme

BMW Group UK has launched recruitment for its brand new graduate programme with 13 places available across its MINI UK production network.

Developed alongside the company's graduate schemes in Munich, the BMW Group UK Graduate Programme will welcome applicants in variety of areas ranging from engineering and finance to business and IT, with eight based at the Oxford MINI plant, four at the firm's pressings plant Swindon and one at the company's engine plant at Hams Hall near Birmingham.

Starting in October 2014, the programme will last for 24 months during which graduates will complete five different placements on various strategic and operational projects which will allow them to gain an insight into business process, strategy and culture from both a UK and global perspective.

Holly Chalmers, BMW Group UK's recruitment and staffing manager, joined the company 25 years ago on a training scheme and has worked across a variety of HR disciplines and BMW Group sites during her career.

Welcoming the new scheme, she said: "Investment in young people has long been a key part of our development strategy for the plant and we are looking forward to recruiting talented young people who have a passion for the motor industry."

Student Ciaran Raymer, 23, is currently working at MINI Plant Oxford as an intern as part of his year in industry. He is studying business and enterprise at chester University and is based in MINI Plant Oxford's process management team.

Ciaran said: "I've had the opportunity to work with and learn from experts in their respected fields, giving me access to an unparalleled level of knowledge. The launch of the new graduate scheme is really exciting and will be a great opportunity for anyone wanting to pursue a career in the automotive sector."

The programme at a glance: Twenty-four month programme covering five placements. A maximum of three placements in the home business. Placements away from the home business can be either in the UK or internationally. One of the placements must be in a different department. Placements in production and a customer facing role.

The BMW Group UK Graduate Programme is offered at MINI Plant Oxford, MINI Plant

Swindon and BMW Plant Hams Hall depending on the position being applied for.

Further information about the roles can be found on the BMW Group UK Apprenticeship, Intern and Graduate Opportunities Facebook page: www.facebook.com/BMW Careers UK. Online applications can also be made from the Facebook page.

Applications close on Friday, February 28, 2014.

Dacia has birthday offers that come straight from the heart

Dacia is celebrating its first birthday by making its 'shockingly affordable' market-leading model even more enticing, with a range of hot monthly repayment offers for Valentine's Day.

Brits took the smart-buy range to its heart last year, making it the fastest-growing car brand in the country. Now they are being rewarded with an unbeatable offer, available on new Duster models ordered until March 31, 2014, which start from £9,495.

Selected Duster Ambiance models are available from just £199 deposit and £199 per month. For just £10 per month extra, customers can upgrade to enjoy the benefits of Laureate.

Dacia UK brand manager, Andy Heiron, said: "After a record-breaking year, it seemed only right to show our appreciation to the public."

"Dacia came to the UK with one mission: to shake up the long stagnant new and used markets by offering 'shockingly affordable' vehicles with high levels of quality and unrivalled space and equipment for the money."

"We've been asking customers to 'do the maths', but even I'm struggling to get my head around this latest price - what you are getting for your money is scary."

Having sold more than 17,000 cars in 2013 across its four-strong line-up, Duster led the way with 7,830 orders. In its first year, Duster picked up the overall Scottish Car of the Year trophy, a hat-trick from Carbuyer.co.uk, including Car of the Year, for its 'sensational value', while its 4x4 and towing abilities saw it register at the Caravan Club and Towcar ceremonies.

The model has clearly struck a chord with budget-conscious new and used car buyers up and down the country, although its success undoubtedly comes down to more than mere affordability. The stylish SUV scores high on practicality and reliability, together with low-running costs and fuel-efficient engines. It has a roomy cabin and huge boot to round off its tempting package, plus the bonus of rugged off-road capability in its 4x4 guises.

The latest Dacia range information is available at Dacia retailers across the UK, on www.dacia.co.uk, or by calling 0844 335 1111.

All the latest news and videos are available across social media too, including www.youtube.com/DaciaUK, on twitter @DaciaUK and www.facebook.com/DaciaUK.

Finance is provided by RCI Financial Services Limited. You must be 18 or over and a UK resident (excluding Isle of Man and Channel Islands) to apply. Finance is available subject to status.

Guarantees and indemnities may be required. Terms and conditions apply. At participating dealers only.

A fantastic range from Hyundai has it all covered

Hyundai i10

Hyundai's new generation i10 city is considered 'best in class'.

With smart styling, plenty of space inside, strong equipment levels and a focus on refinement, it's performing strongly in its city car sector, especially with combined fuel economy of 64mpg and low CO2 emissions.

Hyundai i20

There wasn't much wrong with the original version of this i20 that a bit of personality and more appealing styling wouldn't have put right.

Well, the new generation version delivers that, along with a smarter cabin, stronger equipment levels and lower running costs.

This Hyundai remains one of the value leaders in the supermini segment, especially when you take its class-leading specification into account.

There are even more frugal engines on offer and the same value pricing. Then there's that long 5-year Hyundai warranty.

Hyundai i30

Smart, frugal, spacious and value-laden, this is one car that all other big volume manufacturers are worried about.

Expectations were high following the excellence of its predecessor. Now it looks sharper, is better equipped and engineered to be more efficient. No other car in this class is better at soothing away tarmac imperfections.

An improvement in running costs, an addition of hi-tech equipment, and an extra dose of quality, all of which were delivered in an i30 that's predictably excellent.

Hyundai i40

The brand's impressive i40 is a medium range Mondeo-sized challenger which comprehensively knocks that kind of thinking into touch.

Offering accessible pricing and plenty of space and equipment isn't anything new for the Korean company. The i40, available as a saloon or 'Tourer' estate, also has a quality finish, sleek styling, class-leading practicality and low running costs alongside typical Hyundai virtues of strong value and high specification.

Hyundai ix35

The ix35 is one of the top-selling crossover vehicles in the UK and Hyundai's aiming to consolidate that position with this new generation car.

With updated styling, more generous equipment levels and better steering, sales have been rising strongly.

It looks reassuringly expensive, the 591-litre boot is around 200 litres bigger than what you'd get with its nearest rival and there's that fantastic warranty.

It's inexpensive to run and it scores very well in reliability surveys, as do all Hyundai vehicles. Build an attractive product and it'll sell.

Hyundai once again demonstrates that keeping things simple pays dividends.

Hyundai Sante Fe

With far sharper styling, some fantastic equipment on offer and a punchy 200PS 2.2-litre diesel engine, the third generation Hyundai Santa Fe SUV punches its way upmarket on merit.

Customers choose between five and seven seats, manual or auto transmissions and front or four-wheel drive.

It's hard not to be impressed. If even more space is needed the family-focused 4WD seven-seat version's the one to have.

Hyundai Velostar

Hyundai has established a reputation for its affordable coupes.

They looked distinctive, were inexpensive to buy and offered a degree of sass without incurring big bills.

The Veloster features a sharply-tailored profile with two doors on one side and one on the other. Unlike some rivals, Hyundai has made the effort of ensuring that the rear passenger door is on the pavement side. It's undoubtedly an intriguing piece of design.

The shape itself is neat and tidy and the doors a neat touch, too. What's more, this curvaceous car offers a great drive.

Hyundai i800

There are many shapelier MPVs around but a sleek silhouette is no substitute for acres of space, especially if you've got a big family.

There's no substitute for sheer size and the Hyundai i800 eight-seater people MPV is massive at over 5.1 metres long.

You can seat eight and still have room for bags. Even with eight up, there's a 581-litre luggage bay – almost twice as much as some estate cars.

New Generation i10

Inspiration. Engineered.

Inspiration comes from everywhere, but it's what you do with it that counts.

A double win for Jaguar

Jaguar UK received two awards at this year's Chartered Institute of Marketing's Marketing Excellence Awards, in recognition of the 'Your Turn Britain' campaign created for the launch of the new Jaguar F-TYPE.

Your Turn Britain picked up the top spot in both the categories for which it was shortlisted: Best Automotive/Transport Campaign and Social Media Campaign of the Year.

Both categories were hotly contested, with Jaguar successful versus brands including HSBC, Volkswagen and Haslmann Taylor.

Attributes

Jaguar UK launched Your Turn Britain in the summer of 2013, working with global social media agency We Are Social and The Brooklyn Brothers. The socially-led campaign celebrated the best of modern Britain, while promoting the product and design attributes of the new Jaguar F-TYPE sports car.

Jaguar UK Marketing Director, Ken Forbes said: "We're delighted with the recognition Your Turn Britain has received. It had social media at its heart – a very modern campaign that positioned and celebrated the F-TYPE as a new modern British icon. By inspiring and engaging with the UK population, we were able to run a campaign that successfully and credibly appealed to a modern British audience."

NOTICE TO READERS Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer.

1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with its Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree. Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Bloxwich suffer another beating

TAMWORTH 5

Bloxwich Men's First XI 1 Bloxwich followed up last week's disappointing result with an equally demoralising result but this time they came away with a lot more positives from the match.

Bloxwich started the match off very strongly and pressed hard in the opening 15 minutes.

Excellent passages of play from Ryan Mitford at the back, linking with Danny Steatham creating a chance for Adam Baldwin that was parried wide by the goalkeeper.

Tamworth countered well and scored three goals on the break from their own D to take the lead into the half time break.

Bloxwich's passing and quick movement was a lot more positive in the second half and Matt Baldwin finished one of Bloxwich's many short corners as a consolation towards the end of the game.

Bloxwich now know they need to restrict the attack of the opposition; stop conceding and start finishing their chances more effectively at the other end of the pitch.

Whittaker one fight from title

BENJAMIN WHITTAKER is a fight away from a second straight national title after victory in the semi-finals of the England Youth Championships, writes Craig Birch.

The Wodensborough Boxing Club fighter and National Ambition champion has been in imperious form over the tournament so far and was again on Sunday.

The promising 16-year-old recorded a fifth straight unanimous points win at 69kg in Class A - for boxers born in 1997 - Bridlington's Zak Stabler the latest to fall victim.

James Beech, from Pleck BC, was stopped on his feet against multi-time national champion Issac Milburn, from the famed Birtley Boys Club in Northumberland.

Their thrilling semi-final at 56kg in Class A wowed Liverpool's Croxteth Sports Centre, with Beech taking standing eight counts in the first and second rounds. The England international ended the fight in the third round.

Khalsa sets out its vision for the future

SPORTING Khalsa showcased their medium to long-term plans for Aspray Arena and the community at a meeting of invited guests which included West Midlands Police & Crime Commissioner Bob Jones, Assistant Chief Constable Marcus Beale (Police HQ), Chief Inspector Sue Parker (Walsall Police), Stuart Laight MD of Aspray 24, Brian Adshead Chief Executive of Staffordshire FA, George Berry from the Professional Footballers Association (PFA), Sikh Council UK, Black Country Chambers, Councillors, local business leaders and club members.

The evening hosted by Avi Pawar from Sporting Khalsa included a short video presentation which showed the guests where the club started.

From its humble beginnings in 1991 at Memorial Park, Willenhall through to the present day and then the vision for the next few months and years.

These included plans for the provision of a variety of sports which will be accessible to the whole community. This will include hockey, tag rugby, martial arts, boxing, and yoga as well as football. Following the video presentation Sporting Khalsa coach and manager of the Under-21s Asher Lyne talked about his life coming from a life of crime, prison and the tragic loss of a close friend. He had found, through football, a route to turn his life around and using the power of sport, his own hard work and dedication has set himself about on a new career path while at the same time working as a mentor to many others who find themselves in a similar situation he was in a few years ago.

The guests were hopefully given a real understanding of what Sporting Khalsa was about, and what they are hoping to achieve.

The organisation claims to be more than a football club they want to be the hub of the community providing positive, ambitious people who as volunteers who are happy and willing to welcome and support everyone in their community.

A message underpinned by a speech by Stuart Laight who spoke of how in the short time he had witnessed the change, the growth and community spirit the club had installed and that Aspray were to continue to be a long-term supporter of the club and its plans.

Bob Jones, Police & Crime commissioner spoke to the audience of the importance of organisations such as Sporting Khalsa to the community and how its work serves to support the police and probation services.

Brian Adshead, chief executive of Staffs FA spoke on how he had seen the club grow and were seen as a beacon and standard setter within the region.

Solid Hayes weather the Students' storm

Loughborough University 1 Heath Hayes 1
HAYES came from behind with a strong second-half performance that should have secured all three points in only one of two Midlands Alliance games to beat the weather.

The visitors' lack of recent competitive action showed as the super-fit students dominated the first half. But the first real chances fell to Hayes.

Dan Scraggs' first time effort was cleared off the line by Sam Minihan and Dave Waple was harshly penalised when through on goal.

The Students pressure finally told on 29 minutes when Albert Owusu-Ansah fired home giving the stand-in keeper Jamie Horton, deputising for Adam Jenkins no chance at all.

Rallied

Although the Students had far more of the play territorially Horton never really had another serious save to make being well protected by a solid defence in which Ben Maddox and Harry Phillips were outstanding.

Hayes remained composed and some of their build-up play was excellent and with the last kick of the half Dennis Pickett showed tremendous tenacity to get himself into a good position but dragged his shot wide.

Lloyd Dunnet replaced Joe Geldart, who was struggling with a thigh strain, at half time as Hayes came more into the game and both Waple and Scragg had good chances to head home equalisers. James Winchester blazed over when well placed and Jack Poxon was only inches off target as the students rallied.

Hayes replaced Waple and Chris Geldart, who had both worked tirelessly, with Adam Langley and Tom Green and it soon paid dividends.

Green bought out a good save from home keeper Brendan Hazlett and from the resulting corner Maddox headed home powerfully from Scraggs well flighted kick.

Langley's pace was testing the home defence but the clinical cutting edge, so often their failing this season was missing.

Green had an excellent chance to grab the points as the Students' defence got themselves into an awful tangle but struck his shot straight at Hazlett and Dunnet fired the rebound hopelessly wide.

All in all Hayes can view it as point well deserved as they strive to break clear of the relegation zone.

Nine young judo beltters make the grade

Certificates awarded - eight of the winning Meiji Judo Club members who made the grade

NINE young martial artists from a Burntwood based judo club have proved they are real beltters by making the grade at a recent event.

The students from the Meiji Judo Club, which meets at Burntwood Leisure Centre were entered into the Midlands area grading.

Twelve-year-old Kingsmead pupil Tom Hudson, fought against an opponent six grades higher but the Hedsnesford entrant triumphed.

Four St Joseph's School pupils in Chasetown were among the successful pupils.

They included Scott Olsson, nine,

Sam Danan, nine, Jake Danan and Danny Finlan, both eight.

Nine-year-old Gorsemore Primary School pupil Cameron Saunders and Kyah Hudson, 12, and Mollie-May Hudson, 13, both of Kingsmead were successful as well as Jamie Welsby, eight, from Watling street Primary.

Harry is top hole on course

A YOUNG golfer has achieved every players dream of a hole in one at a course near Wolverhampton.

Ten-year-old golfer Harry Watton from Upper Gornal, Dudley achieved the impressive feat at the 3 Hammers Golf Complex in Coven.

The young golfer did it with the first shot from tee on Saturday during the strong winds which hit the region.

Harry regularly visits the Complex for golf lessons, to use driving range for practice.

The youngster has been playing golf for 12 months and for the last six months has progressed to the Staffordshire County Academy Programme. He wants to follow in the footsteps of his idols Rory McIlroy and Justin Rose.

Harry's parents Dave and Natalie said: "We're very proud of him."

Crawley is a must win, says Mantom

SAM MANTOM has said Walsall must back up their point at Peterborough with victory over Crawley this weekend.

The Saddlers have already turned their attentions to the visit of the Reds to the Banks's this Saturday after Friday night's 0-0 draw with the Posh at London Road maintained the status quo in the League One play-off race.

On paper, the stalemate was not the worst result for Dean Smith's side as it kept them just a place and two points behind their rivals in seventh. But Mantom insists it will only be a good result if they follow it up with victory at home.

"I think we'll say it was a good point on Friday if we beat Crawley on Saturday," he said.

"If we can take three points there and four from these two games, if Peterborough drop points we can go above them. I think definitely if we beat Crawley we will see it as a good point."

Crawley, managed by former Villa boss John Gregory, currently sit 19th in the table.

Jackett all geared up for game

KENNY JACKETT has urged his Wolves players to embrace and enjoy the challenge of this weekend's clash with League One table-toppers Brentford.

The Molineux head coach watched his team extend their winning run to five games.

But still the club's League One promotion quest remains tough to call with leaders Brentford stretching their unbeaten run to 19 games and third-placed Leyton Orient looking to leapfrog Wolves with a home game against Stevenage tomorrow.

That puts Jackett's League One promotion favourites under added pressure as they get ready for the game of the season so far at Griffin Park on Saturday - but the head coach wants his players to 'front up'.

Jackett said: "The Brentford game is one to look forward to right now. We have to look forward to what is a big challenge and be enthusiastic about it."

Strong start but firsts held to a draw

Cannock Ladies 1st 3
Matlock Ladies 1st 3

CANNOCK started strong and stunned the home side with an early 1-0 lead from Spencer. A nicely-worked second came not long after when Booth converted from close range.

Matlock took advantage of a defensive error and relaxed defending to bring the score level at two all. Cannock hit a rocky patch and had to hold their position when they went down to 10 players twice in the second half!

They continued their fight to jump up the table with Booth netting her second goal with a reverse strike. Cannock thought they had found the winner when Turbill knocked in a fourth only to see the umpire disallow it.

Matlock pushed on hunting for an equaliser which they eventually got from a short corner. However, Cannock remain in a promotion spot and are still undefeated since the second game of season

Cannock Ladies 2nds 2

Leamington Spa Ladies 1sts 5
Cannock seconds faced fourth-in-the-table Leamington. Cannock were looking for three points to take them out of the bottom two in the league. Cannock knew this would be a tough game. Leamington were awarded a controversial penalty flick in the first half from which they scored giving them an early lead.

Their second followed soon after with a break down from right. Cannock pulled a goal back before half time with a well-worked short corner with Sophie Tibbetts slotting it in.

After the restart Leamington continued to press and were the better side. Cannock could not find the form they had shown over the last two weeks. Leamington scored another two before Mary Clark pulled one back from Cannock.

Leamington scored another before the final whistle. Player of the match went to Sammy Holland.

Cannock Ladies 3rds 5
Sutton Coldfield Ladies 4ths 1

Cannock started the game very strong with some great attacking play and they went one up but they failed to put away the other attempts on goal. The team lost their keeper to the Firsts so Jenny Collins played kicking back, doing a fantastic job. Sutton got a short corner which they converted 1-1 half time. The second half saw Cannock continue to be the dominant team and finally getting the goals. Lucy Black scored three and Emma Smith, Jess Bailey one each.

Cannock Ladies 4s and Ladies 5s: No game this week due to IT term

Cannock ladies train on a Monday night 6.30-7.30pm at Chase Park. If you are interested in joining or would like to know more about the club check out www.cannockhockey.org

Saddlers avoid loss of ground with draw

Peterborough 0 Walsall 0
IT was anticipated to be a Valentine's Night cracker, but instead got a stalemate in the mud.

Any hope of a classic play-off six pointer were literally blown away as seventh-placed Walsall and sixth-placed Peterborough cancelled each other out on a horrid night at London Road.

The Saddlers had the best of the opening half and forced some good saves from home keeper Bobby Olejnik. After the break, it was the Posh in the ascendancy and they could have gone ahead had Britt Assombalonga shown better composure from six yards out.

In reality, chances were few and far between and the draw was a fair result. In terms of the play-off race, it's very much as we were but the Saddlers will be happy with the point.

Dean Smith might have been bullish beforehand in his view the game was "must not lose" but victory would have moved Darren Ferguson's men five points clear, still with a game in hand.

Instead, the Saddlers are still breathing down their necks.

Albrighton plays cool over future

MARC ALBRIGHTON is playing it cool over his future but insisted he wants to stay at Villa.

The winger is out of contract at the end of the season and boss Paul Lambert has revealed he will hold talks with him.

Villa youth product Albrighton was man of the match in Saturday's 2-0 defeat to West Ham - despite playing just 34 minutes - prompting Lambert to confirm he is primed for contract discussions.

And while Albrighton wants to remain at Villa Park he refuses to let speculation on his future distract him.

"I've been here since I was eight so if I can do anything to impress then I will but I will wait and see what happens," he said.

"We'll sit down and discuss what's happening. At the moment I'm concentrating on playing as many

Rushall Olympic 2 Chasetown 1
RUSHALL Olympic progressed into the semi-finals of the Staffordshire Senior Cup and continued their dominance over their neighbours by winning their 11th successive game against them.

The home side enjoyed the better of the first half and went close several times before taking the lead two minutes before the interval.

Jack Duggan's powerful goalbound header was cleared off the line but un- luckily for the visitors the clearance hit Dele Adebola and bounced over the line.

Rushall made a good start to the second half and kept their neighbours on the defensive.

Difficult

Chasetown's task was made even more difficult in the 59th minute when they were reduced to 10 men following a two-footed challenge by Joe Halsall on Duggan which saw him sent packing by the referee.

Four minutes later the Pics almost doubled their lead with a great run from Stan Mugisha. The move saw him lay the ball off to Adebola, who curled a fine left foot shot which ended up missing the net and banging against the post.

The ball rebounded to James Dance who shot over the unguarded goal.

For the visitors Nick Wellescombe fired a shot over the bar but the home side soon returned to the attack and Dance's first-time shot flashed inches past the post.

Rushall, though were not to be denied, and the home team doubled their lead when Stan Mugisha fired home a superb right foot shot into the top corner of the net.

At this point the home side appeared to be comfortable winners but six minutes from time the Chase pulled a goal back when substitute Jazz Luckie fired home but it was too little too late and the home side go on to face Norton United in the semi-finals.

Next 10 games 'make or break'

CAPTAIN Andy Butler has admitted the next 10 games could either make or break Walsall's play-off dream.

The Saddlers are just two points outside the top six with 15 matches to go in their League One campaign, with some mouth-watering fixtures on the horizon.

After Saturday's meeting with Crawley at the Banks's, Dean Smith's side face almost all of the division's promotion contenders in an eight-game March, which includes dates with Preston, Wolves, Rotherham and Leyton Orient.

April begins with a visit to Port Vale before a final five game run-in which, on paper, looks easier than what came before. Butler believes if the Saddlers can stay in contention until then, they will have a great chance of landing a play-off berth.

"They are big games and if you look at them, if you can stay in the race over the next few weeks you have a massive chance," he said. "No disrespect to the last five games of the season, they are not easy but they look more winnable."

Watson set to move in

STEVE WATSON is set to become Birmingham's new assistant manager - after the exits of Terry McDermott and Derek Fazackerley.

The duo left at the weekend - although the club are yet to confirm their departure - with Watson primed to step up.

Boss Lee Clark is believed to have initiated the move after Saturday's 2-1 defeat to his former club Huddersfield and the pair went after a meeting during the squad's usual Sunday warm down.

Defeat left Blues 18th in the Championship, who have won just two of their 16 home league outings this season and they are winless in their last 11 matches at St Andrew's.

McDermott and Fazackerley are yet to comment with legal issues and severance pay to be finalised.

Fans united in tribute to legendary Finney

Football

FOOTBALL fans from across England came together to pay their respects to Sir Tom Finney after the legendary winger's death at the age of 91.

Supporters at grounds up and down the country observed a period of silence or applause in memory of the Preston North End icon, who was compared to modern-day stars including Lionel Messi.

The tributes were most poignant at Deepdale, where Sir Tom was revered as Preston's greatest sporting son and where players and friends held an emotional minute's silence.

The scene was replicated elsewhere at Football League and FA Cup matches over the weekend, including Wolves' 2-0 victory over Notts County in League One at Molineux.

Tributes came from players of all generations including recent England captain David Beckham, who launched his own career when he joined North End on loan from Manchester United.

On returning from a Unicef trip to the Philippines, Beckham wrote on Facebook: "I just landed and heard the sad news that Sir Tom Finney had passed away. I was lucky enough to have met him when I was on loan at Preston.

"He was not just an England great but a true gentleman. My thoughts are with his family."

Finney, who died on Friday at the age of 91, enjoyed a glittering career for both club and country.

He scored 210 goals in 473 games for Preston and 30 in 76 England appearances. The one-club man led his side to the 1954 FA Cup Final, where they were beaten by Albion.

Preston's players all wore black armbands and shirts bearing the name Finney above their squad numbers. A statue of Finney outside Deepdale was also covered with flowers, shirts and scarves left by fans before the club's 1-1 draw with Leyton Orient.

The statue, known as 'The Splash' and inspired by a 1956 photograph showing Finney beating two defenders at a waterlogged Stamford Bridge, attracted tributes from fans of a host of clubs including Blackpool, Preston's bitter rivals.

Tommy Docherty, who played with Finney for Preston between 1949 and 1958, said: "He was the best player I've ever seen, alongside Lionel Messi."

Wolves pay the penalty

Wolves 0 Sunderland 2
LIAM McALINDEN missed a penalty as Wolves Under-21s fell to a disappointing 2-0 defeat against Sunderland at a windswept Compton.

The visitors made most of the early running and it wasn't until the ninth minute that the Sunderland goal was threatened with keeper Joel Dixon diving to take Lee Evans's 25-yard drive. Dixon did fumble a cross from new-boy Kortney Hause but a defender was on hand to clear.

In the 19th minute Wolves were awarded a penalty when Matt Doherty was felled by Liam Agnew but McAlinden's spot-kick lacked power and Dixon saved.

Aaron McCarey saved a long distance effort from Connor Oliver but the keeper was at fault as Sunderland moved into a 35th-minute lead. He cleared the ball straight to George Honeyman who quickly slipped a pass to Agnew to score.

After the break Honeyman ran into the box and went down under a challenge from Ebanks-Landell. Laidler made no mistake from the penalty spot.

Woffy wins the man of the year

WOLVERHAMPTON speedway ace Tai Woffinden left a host of motorcycling icons trailing as he blitzed to the Motorcycle News Man of the Year Award for 2013.

The 23-year-old was up against a galaxy of two-wheeled stars from the road racing world, but bagged twice the number of votes notched by any of the other 13 shortlisted riders.

MOORS MISERY FOR THE PITMEN

Hednesford Town 1 Solihull Moors 2 INJURY-HIT Hednesford Town have slumped to their second defeat in succession after losing out to Solihull Moors at Keys Park.

This performance dented The Pitmen's hopes of lifting the Skrill North title as Rob Smith's side slipped down to third place

Football

This puts them three points off top spot.

The whole of Keys Park was united to show their support to midfielder Kris Taylor recently diagnosed with testicular cancer. Taylor attended his first match following his operation.

Superbly

Hednesford started the better of the two and in the fifth minute first Nathan Blissett saw a shot turned away before Paul Sullivan's follow-up effort was superbly saved by Jasbir Singh in the Moors goal.

Goalkeeper Dan Crane was forced into having to come to claim two free kicks inside his box, whilst right on the stroke of half-time Town's Robbie Thompson-Brown saw his cross tipped behind for a corner.

Twelve minutes into the second period Solihull edged ahead in controversial circumstances. Ben Bailey was adjudged to have stopped the ball with his hand some 20 yards from goal, much to the dismay of the defender who showed the mark on the chest of his shirt to the officials.

However, the decision stood and Diior Angus' resulting free kick drifted into the bottom corner of the net with no-one seemingly getting a touch. Despite this goal momentum swung back Town's way when Gary Birch was dismissed for kicking out at Paul McCone right in front of the referee.

The Pitmen threw everything at the visitors with another striker in Charlie Anagho-Ntamark added to the ranks, and it almost got them the equaliser in the 75th minute.

Fellow substitute Alex Melbourne got to the by-line and his low cross was deflected goalwards by a Moors defender but just stopped in time on the line by Singh.

In the 77th minute Hednesford drew level when the ball was laid back to Anagho-Ntamark who blasted home.

Town now pushed forward in search of a second, however it would arrive at the other end when a ball into the box wasn't cleared and it fell to Junior English who swept home from 20 yards in the 81st minute.

The afternoon got worse with Town captain Darren Campion being dismissed three minutes later for a second bookable offence. Hednesford are hosting Histon at Keys Park on Saturday 3pm kick off.
